Moulding the Imaginary Artur Victoria, 2025-11-09 The consequences are cultural political and strategic Political influencers can redefine public opinion faster than institutional campaigns They shape civic participation mobilizing people toward activism or apathy trust or distrust They redefine what counts as political truth sometimes elevating evidence based analysis other times amplifying misinformation The blending of political and military influence also creates new forms of digital power Influencers can become symbolic leaders of ideological tribes where loyalty is strong and dissent is punished To understand these archetypes is to understand the interplay between performance identity and psychological need in the age of hyper visibility They represent three ways individuals navigate a world where the self itself becomes public monetizable and endlessly scrutinized For some families child influencing is a path to financial stability Economic pressure intersects with digital opportunity Parents justify the exposure as necessary or beneficial Yet the question remains can a child truly consent to a career built from their private life The narcissistic influencer emerges from a blend of personality traits and platform structures the paid influencer is shaped less by psychological traits and more by economic incentives The midlife crisis influencer introduces a different dynamic altogether one rooted in existential longing rather than narcissism or commercial calculation These individuals often enter the influencer space later in life driven by a sense of reinvention loss or the desire to reclaim a forgotten version of themselves Manipulation influencers social networks profit politics military child labour privacy tribal leaders virtual followers
