- crystalline solid — solid in which the representative particles are in a highly-ordered, repeating pattern called a crystal
- deposition — conversion of a gas directly into a solid without first becoming a liquid
- dipole-dipole force — intermolecular force of attraction between neighboring permanent dipoles that is created when the dipoles line up so that the positive and negative ends are close to each other
- dispersion force — intermolecular force of attraction between induced dipoles
- equilibrium vapor pressure — pressure exerted by a vapor in equilibrium with its liquid; point at which the number of molecules in the vapor state remains solid
