Cost Containment and Efficiency in National Health Systems John Rapoport, Philip Jacobs, Egon Jonsson, 2008-12-03
Written by a local health economics expert each of the eight chapters in this timely handbook and ready reference describes the national healthcare system of a different industrialized country In each case the 4 5 specific policies with the highest impact on that respective country over the past 20 30 years are identified In addition the economic characteristics of each policy are described and where possible its success evaluated discussing the current policy agenda A final chapter summarizes and synthesizes the major points of the analysis While the main focus is on economics this guide is written in non technical language for an audience of health policy decision makers or students of health policy making it an invaluable contribution to the current debate surrounding the control of rising healthcare related costs in the developed world

OECD Economic Surveys Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2009      Policy Tools for Allocative Efficiency of Health Services Xingzhu Liu, 2003 This study is a result of trying to answer for the WHO the question Are there any policy tools that have been shown to improve the allocative efficiency of health care provision It does not simply tell policy makers which tools to take up but rather how to determine which ones are more likely to be feasible and effective given particular circumstances of political and administrative capacity knowledge on the part of both providers and consumers and other factors which affect whether a policy tool can be used and with what outcome      A

Disease-based Comparison of Health Systems Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2003 This volume contains papers presented at a workshop held in June 2002 on issues related to the study of ageing related diseases The OECD Ageing Related Disease study investigated how health systems treat three diseases ischaemic heart disease stroke and breast cancer Also a number of key questions were addressed Such as what approach to treating certain ageing related diseases works best and at what cost and what combination of health care system combining prevention detection technology and treatment is the most cost effective A comparison was made between the approaches of different countries      OECD
