Handbook of Counselor Preparation Garrett McAuliffe, Karen Eriksen, 2011 This definitive single volume guide is the first of its kind on teaching and developing counselor educator programs that embrace constructivist and developmental theory. Narrative Counselling Peter Muntigl, 2004-01-01 What actually happens in counselling interactions? How does counselling bring about change? How do clients end up producing new and alternative stories of their lives and relationships? By addressing these questions and others, Peter Muntigl explores the narrative counselling process in the context where it is enacted: the unfolding conversation between counsellor and clients. Through a transdisciplinary approach that combines conversation analysis and systemic functional linguistic theory, Muntigl demonstrates how language is used in couples counselling, how language use changes over the course of counselling, and how this process provides clients with new linguistic resources that help them change their social relationships. This book will be a valuable resource not only for linguists and discourse analysts but also for researchers and practitioners in the fields of counselling, psychotherapy, psychology, and medicine.

Learning and Writing in Counselling Mhairi MacMillan, Dot Clark, 1998-02-28 This is a very practical how-to book written for students on counselling skills courses. It is intended to help them through the various problems faced by people returning to education, perhaps after a long gap, how useful this book could be to students who are confused by the increasingly academic requirements of counselling training courses. I would recommend this book as a companion for anyone who is starting a course with little or no experience of academic expectations. It is written in a friendly and reassuring style.
