Defining Sustainable Development Common Future:

Defining Sustainable Development for Our Common Future Iris Borowy, 2013-12-04 The UN World Commission on Environment and Development chaired by former Norwegian Prime Minister Gro Harlem Brundtland alerted the world to the urgency of making progress toward economic development that could be sustained without depleting natural resources or harming the environment. Written by an international group of politicians, civil servants and experts on the environment and development, the Brundtland Report changed sustainable development from a physical notion to one based on social, economic and environmental issues. This book positions the Brundtland Commission as a key event within a longer series of international reactions to pressing problems of global poverty and environmental degradation. It shows that its report Our Common Future, published in 1987, covered much more than its definition of sustainable development as development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs, for which it became best known. It also addressed a long list of issues which remain unresolved today. The book explores how the work of the Commission juggled contradictory expectations and world views which existed within the Commission and beyond, and drew on the concept of sustainable development as a way to reconcile profound differences. The result was both an immense success and disappointment. Coining an irresistibly simple definition enabled the Brundtland Commission to place sustainability firmly on the international agenda. This definition gained acceptability for a potentially divisive concept but it also diverted attention from underlying demands for fundamental political and social changes. Meanwhile, the central message of the Commission, the need to make inconvenient sustainability considerations a part of global politics as much as of everyday life, has been sidelined. The book thus assesses to what extent the Brundtland Commission represented an immense step forward or a missed opportunity.

What Next for Sustainable Development? James Meadowcroft, David Banister, Erling Holden, Oluf Langhelle, Kristin Linnerud, Geoffrey Gilpin, 2019 This book examines the international experience with sustainable development since the concept was brought to world wide attention in Our Common Future, the 1987 report of the World Commission on Environment and Development. Scholars from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds engage with three critical themes: negotiating environmental limits, equity, environment and development, and transitions and transformations. In light of the 2030 Sustainable Development Goals recently adopted by the United Nations General Assembly, they ask what lies ahead for sustainable development.

Demystifying Sustainability Haydn Washington, 2015-02-11 What is sustainability? Much has been said about the terms sustainability and sustainable development over the last few decades but they have become buried under academic jargon. This book is one of the first that aims to demystify sustainability so that the layperson can understand the key issues, questions and values involved. Accessible and engaging, the book examines the old sustainability of the past and looks to the future, considering how economic, ecological and social sustainability should be defined if we are to solve the entwined environmental, economic and social crises It considers if meaningful sustainability is the same as a sustainable development based on endless growth examining the difficult but central issues of overpopulation and overconsumption that drive unsustainability The book also explores the central role played by society's worldview and ethics along with humanity's most dangerous characteristic denial Finally it looks to the future discussing the appropriate technology needed for sustainability and suggesting nine key solutions This book provides a much needed comprehensive discussion of what sustainability means for students policy makers and all those interested in a sustainable future State Governance of Mining, Development and Sustainability Tracy-Lynn Field, 2019 States in mineral rich jurisdictions must promote mining as a development industry just as they must protect people and environment from the worst excesses of extractivism State Governance of Mining Development and Sustainability explores how the State's role in facilitating a developmental and sustainable mining industry has been defined In doing so this astute book considers the impact of the policies and laws of mineral rich States themselves multilateral international governance institutions industry associations and environmental justice advocates in the areas of property relations mineral taxation environmental management and mine closure Routledge Handbook of Sustainability Indicators Simon Bell, Stephen Morse, 2018-06-14 This handbook provides researchers and students with an overview of the field of sustainability indicators SIs as applied in the interdisciplinary field of sustainable development The editors have sought to include views from the center ground of SI development but also divergent ideas which represent some of the diverse challenging and even edgy observations which are prominent in the wider field of SI thinking The contributions in this handbook clearly set out the theoretical background and history of SIs their origins roots and initial goals expand on the disciplines and modalities employed to develop SIs of various kinds assess the various ways in which SI data are gathered and the availability over space and time and quality issues that surround them explore the multiplex world of SIs as expressed in agencies around the world via examples of SI practice and the lessons that have emerged from them critically review the progress that SIs have made over the last 30 years express the divergence of views which are held about the value of SIs including differing theories on their efficacy efficiency and ethics explore the frontier of contemporary SI thinking reviewing ante post and systemic alternatives This multidisciplinary and international handbook will be of great interest to researchers students and practitioners working in sustainability research and practice Yearbook on International Investment Law and Policy 2012-2013 Andrea K.
