Citizens and Subjects: The Netherlands, for Example Rosi Braidotti, Charles Esche, Maria Hlavajova, 2007

Citizens and Subjects: Aernout Mik, Citizens and Subjects: the Netherlands, for Example, Citizens and Subjects: Practices and Debates, 2007 Post-Colonial Immigrants and Identity Formations in the Netherlands Ulbe Bosma, 2012

In this book Ulbe Bosma explores the experience of immigrants in the Netherlands over sixty years and three generations. Looking at migrants from all countries, Bosma teases out how their ethnic identities are informed by Dutch culture and how these immigrant identities evolve over time. Fascinating, comprehensive and historically grounded, this essential volume reveals how the colonial past continues to shape multicultural Dutch society. It is an important counterpart to work on France, Britain and Portugal.

Being Digital Citizens Engin Isin, Evelyn Ruppert, 2020-05-27 This book examines how citizens encounter and perform new sorts of rights, duties, opportunities and challenges through the Internet. By disrupting prevailing understandings of citizenship and cyberspace, the authors highlight the dynamic relationship between these two concepts. This new and updated edition includes a new preface and a new chapter exploring digital citizens of the future. Brussels Biennial 1 Barbara Vanderlinden, 2008 Widely acknowledged as the international centre of the unified European Community, Brussels inaugurates its first contemporary art biennial in 2008. Characterized by its intuitive insight into the art scene of the highly urbanized region between the Netherlands, Belgium, France and parts of Germany, the biennial takes place from October 2008 through January 2009. With contributions from more than 40 international artists, the biennial incorporates exhibitions by experimental art institutions located in two deserted buildings along the North-South railway axis in Brussels. The first edition of the Brussels Biennial is the result of a collaboration that crosses traditional boundaries between biennials, exhibitions, institutions, curators and artists. It aims to radically move away from the process in which artworks are produced, presented, disseminated and contextualized. Thematically, the exhibition Re/Used Modernity is linked to the complex ideas emerging from the different modern complexities in a global context and its implications on individuals and societies from around the world. The project will start from the active involvement of artists within this new global modern reality. English text. The Parliamentary Debates Great Britain.
