Death Rituals, Social Order and the Archaeology of Immortality in the Ancient World Colin Renfrew, Michael J. Boyd, Iain Morley, 2015-11-19 Modern archaeology has amassed considerable evidence for the disposal of the dead through burials cemeteries and other monuments Drawing on this body of evidence this book offers fresh insight into how early human societies conceived of death and the afterlife The twenty seven essays in this volume consider the rituals and responses to death in prehistoric societies across the world from eastern Asia through Europe to the Americas and from the very earliest times before developed religious beliefs offered scriptural answers to these questions Compiled and written by leading prehistorians and archaeologists this volume traces the emergence of death as a concept in early times as well as a contributing factor to the formation of communities and social hierarchies and sometimes the creation of divinities

Figuring It Out Colin Renfrew, 2003-03-25 Where do we come from What are we Where are we going These questions were posed by Paul Gauguin in a famous canvas painted in Tahiti that heralded the beginning of the modernist era But they are also the questions asked by modern prehistorians in their quest to reconstruct the human story In Figuring It Out Colin Renfrew investigates the profound convergence between the two disciplines drawing illuminating parallels between the way the modern artist seeks to understand the world by acting upon it and the way the archaeologist seeks to understand the world through the material traces of such actions What does the sapient paradox the fact that 30 000 years passed before anatomically modern humans began to change their world have to tell us about the unfolding of the history of our species Why do we now find Cycladic sculpture beautiful when merely a century ago such work would not have been thought suitable for display in an art museum And how is it that in the light of Marcel Duchamp's revolutionary gallery based gestures the prehistoric footsteps at Laetoli have been admitted as art too albeit of an involuntary kind Professor Renfrew uses these questions as a springboard for his examination of the history of the human condition a subject that can only be properly understood he argues through the idea of process of Homo sapiens active material engagement with their world Central to his exploration is a group of leading contemporary artists including Richard Long Mark Dion Antony Gormley Eduardo Paolozzi and David Mach whose works are notable for just such an engagement with their physical surroundings Figuring It Out takes sculpture off the plinth and archaeology out of the trench and situates the contemporary artist and archaeologist together at the center of an active endeavor to re evaluate what it is to be human

Prehistory Colin Renfrew,2009-08-11

In Prehistory the award winning archaeologist and renowned scholar Colin Renfrew covers human existence before the advent of written records the overwhelming majority of our time here on earth and gives an incisive concise and lively survey of the past and of how scholars and scientists labor to bring it to light Renfrew begins by looking at prehistory as a discipline detailing how breakthroughs such as radiocarbon dating and DNA analysis have helped us to define humankind's past how things have changed much more clearly than was possible just a half century ago As for why things have changed Renfrew pinpoints some of the issues and challenges past and present that confront the study of prehistory and its investigators Renfrew then offers a summary of human prehistory from early hominids to the rise of literate civilization that is refreshingly free of conventional wisdom and grand unified theories In this invaluable account Colin Renfrew delivers a meticulously researched and passionately argued chronicle about our life on earth and our ongoing quest to understand it

Civilization Colin Renfrew,1990 The refinement of radiocarbon dating using the information from tree ring counts has raised serious doubts about the accepted theoretical framework of European pre history Records are being almost completely rewritten in the light of these new dates

Material Engagements Neil Brodie,2004 The subject matter of archaeology is the engagement of human beings now and in the past with both the natural world and the material world they have created All aspects of human activity are potentially relevant to archaeological research and conversely the ways in which others especially artists and anthropologists have investigated the world are of interest to archaeologists Archaeological artefacts and sites are also used by groups and nations to establish identity and for financial gain both through tourism and trade in antiquities Colin Renfrew has actively engaged with art with politics and with the antiquities trade and has presented his ideas to broad audiences through accessible books and television programmes as well as championing the cause of archaeology in many public roles The papers in this volume which have been written by colleagues and former students on the occasion of his retirement relate to all of these subject areas and together give some idea of the complexity of the issues raised by critical engagements with the material world both past and present

From Stonehenge to Mycenae John Barrett, Michael J. Boyd, 2019-06-13 This book reconsiders how we can understand archaeology on a grand scale by abandoning the claims that material remains stand for the people and institutions that produced them or that genetic change somehow caused cultural change Our challenge is to understand the worlds that made great projects like the building of Stonehenge or Mycenae possible The radiocarbon revolution made the old view that the architecture of Mycenae influenced the building of Stonehenge untenable But the recent use of big data and of genetic histories have led archaeology back to a worldview where big problems are assumed to require big solutions Making an animated plea for bottom up rather than top down solutions the authors consider how life was made possible by living in the local and materially distinct worlds of the period By considering how people once built connections between each other through their production and use of things their movement between and occupancy of places and their treatment of the dead we learn about the kinds of identities that people constructed for themselves Stonehenge did not require an architect from Mycenae for it to be built but the builders of Stonehenge and Mycenae would have shared a mutual recognition of the kinds of humans that they were and the kinds of practices these monuments were once host to Traces of Ancestry Martin Jones, 2004 In 1987 Colin Renfrew's Archaeology and Language challenged many perceptions about how one language family spread across large parts of the world In doing so he reinvigorated an important exchange between archaeologists and historical linguists At precisely the same time a quite separate field human genetics was making considerable steps forward in the elucidation of human ancestry These three parallel lines of enquiry into genes, words and things have over the ensuing two decades entirely transformed our perceptions of the human past This volume brings together contributors to that transformation from around the world to honour Colin Renfrew with a series of key papers They include a number of impressive synthetic statements as well as case studies at the frontiers of three different branches of research They range from global accounts of human dispersal through to archaeological genetic and linguistic studies illustrating what has been achieved over the past two decades and the most promising avenues of research for the future    The Marble Finds from Kavos and the Archaeology of Ritual Colin Renfrew,Olga Philaniotou,Neil Brodie,Michael J. Boyd,Giorgos Gavalas,2018-09

The volume offers a systematic discussion of the Special Deposits at Kavos in relation to the adjacent settlement at Dhaskalio seen in their Aegean perspective at the conclusion of 2008 excavations The sanctuary on Keros is known as a key site for the emergence of ritual practice in the Aegean    Contemporary Archaeology in Theory Robert W. Les Industries lithiques taillées de Franchthi (Argolide, Grèce), Volume 2 Catherine Perlès,2018-10-26 This is the second volume of Catherine Perlès's study of the chipped flaked stone tools found at Franchthi Cave the first of its kind in Greek archaeology if not in the whole of southeastern European prehistory In French    Ranking, Resource and Exchange

Colin Renfrew,Steven Shennan,1982-09-02 Ranked societies are characterized by disparities in personal status that are often accompanied by the concentration of power and authority in the hands of a few dominant individuals They stand between the sophistication of developed states and the relative simplicity of most hunter gatherer groups and early agriculturalists In some places and times they represented relatively brief phases of transition to more complex forms of organization in others they existed as stable forms of adaptation for thousands of years They are thus of great interest for archaeologists seeking to understand the dynamics of cultural evolution
