

Revision tips

Choose the methods that work for you

For example:

- use highlighters for key words and phrases
- make note cards
- use mnemonics (the first letter of words): for example, 'CDRIP' stands for currency, decimal, real, integer, percentages.

Identify your strengths and weaknesses

Complete the 'Revision checklist' at the end of each chapter and identify areas that you feel less confident about. Allow additional time to revise these areas.

Stay healthy!

Exercise, fresh air, good food and staying hydrated all help your revision.

Attend revision classes!

Don't skip revision classes – it can really help to revise with your friends, as well as by yourself.

Plan your revision

Make a list of all the key dates from when you start your revision up to the exam date.

Don't cram!

Plan to space your revision out so that you don't do everything at once!

Take breaks

Plan regular breaks in your revision. Go for a short walk and get some fresh air. It will make you more focused when you do revise!

Learn everything!

Questions can be asked about any area of the specification. It is easier to answer a question if you have revised everything.

Variety is the spice of life!

Mix up your revision methods. Watch videos and listen to podcasts as well as making notes and mind maps.

Find a quiet space

It can be difficult to revise in loud or busy spaces, so try to find somewhere calm to work. You could use headphones and music to block out distractions.
