Camera Clues Joe Nickell,2005-06-10 Nationally known historical investigator Joe Nickell tells us how to identify and date old photos and how to distinguish originals from copies and fakes He addresses forensic application surreptitious photography and legal concerns Particularly intriguing is his discussion of camera tricks darkroom deceptions retouching techniques computer technology and trickery detection Nickell concludes with an exciting look at paranormal photography alleged photographs of ghosts UFOs and legendary creatures miracle pictures and psychokinetic ESP produced photos

The Clue in the Camera Carolyn Keene,2013-07-30 In The Clue in the Camera what starts as a fun trip to San Francisco develops into a dangerous mystery when Nancy exposes the dark secrets of a dead man Scooby-Doo! Camera Clues Matt Kelly,2004-01-01 Shaggy uses his camera to capture clues when the gang is asked to try to discover who is sabotaging a talent show

The Motion Clue Case Lane,2014-04-30 In the next century The Network manages all human activity by linking camera sensor and satellite surveillance to online personal data But when an undetectable civilian drone blows up an energy plant humans face the horror of an unprecedented global criminal investigation into the digital system they thought was the front line in cyber defense

People and Wildlife Becky Thomas,Mark Fellowes,2020-10-07 We live in a world filled with fascinating plants and animals each adapted to environments that range from freezing arctic tundras to humid tropical forests Our world is also home to more than seven billion people a number added to every day Each of us puts pressure on the environment and the space left for wildlife At its most extreme every aspect of the environment has been influenced by people's choices and nowhere more so than the urban areas where most people live Urban areas are full of people playing and working They are also full of animals and plants often living secret lives that go unnoticed Our interactions with wildlife are often determined by our desire to get close to nature or sometimes our fear of it When people think of urban areas they mostly imagine big cities but these areas extend into more suburban environments made up of houses gardens roads and parks These landscapes are often filled with wildlife that represent a combination of local plants and animals with species from other places that are planted or escaped creating a unique habitat linked directly with the people who live there There are many challenges for the species found here but many opportunities too People can individually affect the environment for example by owning pet cats who are like mini tigers preying on the local birds or by leaving out trash and drawing in herds of peccaries or families of raccoons But it is in combination that we have the greatest impact For example houses and street lamps generate lots of light noise which can distract moths from their usual habits and the roads and streets we build divide up the habitat making it harder for wildlife to move around and find resources We in turn are also affected by the environment living in nature filled areas can positively affect our health and our well being yet interactions with certain species like ticks or mosquitoes can bring disease or discomfort Scientists and citizen scientists expert members of the public around the world are exploring our interactions with wildlife and nature in urban areas and here we explore some of this research This collection of articles aims to highlight some of the amazing wildlife that live alongside us and we explore how we can positively and negatively affect these species

New detectives: Camera clues (#5). , Economic Investigations in Twentieth-Century Detective Fiction Yan Zi-Ling,2016-03-09 In his study of Golden Age and hard boiled detective fiction from 1890 to 1950 Yan Zi Ling argues that these two subgenres can be distinguished not only by theme and style but by the way they structure knowledge value and productive labour Using the detective as a reference point and enactor of socially based interests Yan shows that Golden Age texts are distinguished by their conservationism and not only by their conservatism with the detectives actions serving to stabilize institutions with specific ideological aims In contrast the criminal investigations of the hard boiled detective who is poorly aligned with institutions and strong interest groups reveal the fragility of the status quo in the face of escalating cycles of violence Key to Yan s discussion are theories of exchange value and the gift the latter of which he suggests is more akin to detective work than is wage labour Analyzing texts by a wide range of authors that includes Arthur Conan Doyle Agatha Christie Dashiell Hammett Raymond Chandler Dorothy Sayers Raoul Whitfield George Harmon Coxe and Mickey Spillane Yan demonstrates that the detective s truth generating function most often characterized as a process of discovery rather than creation is in fact crucial to the institutional and class based interests that he or she serves
