Coming Into Contact Explorations In Ecocritical Theory And Practice:

Coming Into Contact Annie Merrill Ingram, 2007 A snapshot of ecocriticism in action Coming into Contact collects sixteen previously unpublished essays that explore some of the most promising new directions in the study of literature and the environment They look to previously unexamined or underexamined aspects of literature's relationship to the environment including swamps internment camps Asian American environments the urbanized Northeast and lynching sites The authors relate environmental discourse to practice including the teaching of green design in composition classes the restoration of damaged landscapes the persuasive strategies of environmental activists the practice of urban architecture and the impact of human technologies on nature The essays also put ecocriticism into greater contact with the natural sciences including elements of evolutionary biology biological taxonomy and geology Engaging both ecocritical theory and practice these authors more closely align ecocriticism with the physical environment with the wide range of texts and cultural practices that concern it and with the growing scholarly conversation that surrounds this concern

Transnational Interconnections of Nature Studies and the Environmental Humanities Sophia Emmanouilidou, Sezgin Toska, 2020-02-24 How is ecothinking articulated in varied research fields What are the conjunctions and concurrences of academic endeavors in the attempt to curb environmental destruction This collection of essays offers a multifaceted exploration of the basic tenets of environmentalism proposed by academic curricula across the world Ecodestruction the wilderness rampant pollution tourism developments sustainability educational interventions and the plurivocal turn to ecotheoretical textual analysis are some of the critical perspectives and scientific findings investigated here The book introduces a multilateral understanding of environmental consciousness and suggests that the study of nature should not be compartmentalized into separate fields of analyses but aim for the interconnections between disciplines given that the physical cosmos is an unambiguous and finite host of humanity's endeavors The volume appeals to academics researchers and professionals with a particular interest in the current environmental crisis offers solid insights into the ways human societies construe nature and hopefully will embark on the protection of the ecosphere

Handbook of Ecocriticism and Cultural Ecology Hubert Zapf, 2016-05-10 Ecocriticism has emerged as one of the most fascinating and rapidly growing fields of recent literary and cultural studies From its regional origins in late twentieth century Anglo American academia it has become a worldwide phenomenon which involves a decidedly transdisciplinary and transnational paradigm that promises to return a new sense of relevance to research and teaching in the humanities A distinctive feature of the present handbook in comparison with other survey volumes is the combination of ecocriticism with cultural ecology reflecting an emphasis on the cultural transformation of ecological processes and on the crucial role of literature art and other forms of cultural creativity for the evolution of societies towards sustainable futures In state of the art contributions by leading international scholars in the field this handbook maps some of the most important developments in contemporary ecocritical thought It introduces key theoretical concepts issues and directions of ecocriticism and cultural ecology and demonstrates their relevance for the analysis of texts and other cultural phenomena Asian American Literature and the Environment Lorna Fitzsimmons, Youngsuk

Chae, Bella Adams, 2014-10-24 This book is a ground breaking transnational study of representations of the environment in Asian American literature Extending and renewing Asian American studies and ecocriticism by drawing the two fields into deeper dialogue it brings Asian American writers to the center of ecocritical studies This collection demonstrates the distinctiveness of Asian American writers positions on topics of major concern today environmental justice identity and the land war environments consumption urban environments and the environment and creativity Represented authors include Amy Tan Maxine Hong Kingston Ruth Ozeki Ha Jin Fae Myenne Ng Le Ly Hayslip Lan Cao Mitsuye Yamada Lawson Fusao Inada Jeanne Wakatsuki Houston Milton Murayama Don Lee and Hisaye Yamamoto These writers provide a range of perspectives on the historical social psychological economic philosophical and aesthetic responses of Asian Americans to the environment conceived in relation to labor racism immigration domesticity global capitalism relocation pollution violence and religion Contributors apply a diversity of critical frameworks including critical radical race studies counter memory studies ecofeminism and geomantic criticism The book presents a compelling and timely green perspective through which to understand key works of Asian American literature and leads the field of ecocriticism into neglected terrain Sustaining the West Liza Piper, Lisa Szabo-Jones, 2015-04-06 Western Canada's natural environment faces intensifying threats from industrialization in agriculture and resource development social and cultural complicity in these destructive practices and most recently the negative effects of global climate change The complex nature of the problems being addressed calls for productive interdisciplinary solutions In this book arts and humanities scholars and literary and visual artists tackle these pressing environmental issues in provocative and transformative ways Their commitment to environmental causes emerges through the fields of environmental history environmental and ecocriticism ecofeminism ecoart ecopoetry and environmental journalism This indispensable and timely resource constitutes a sustained cross pollinating conversation across the environmental humanities about forms of representation and activism that enable ecological knowledge and ethical action on behalf of Western Canadian environments yet have global reach Among the developments in the contributors construction of environmental knowledge are a focus on the power of sentiment in linking people to the fate of nature and the need to decolonize social and environmental relations and assumptions in the West Ecocritical Dimensions in Modern Indian

"Wilderness Into Civilized Shapes" Laura Wright,2010 This study examines how postcolonial landscapes and environmental issues are represented in fiction Wright creates a provocative discourse in which the fields of postcolonial theory and ecocriticism are brought together Laura Wright explores the changes brought by colonialism and globalization as depicted in an array of international works of fiction in four thematically arranged chapters She looks first at two traditional oral histories retold in modern novels Zakes Mda's The Heart of Redness South Africa and Ngugi wa Thiong'o's Petals of Blood Kenya that deal with the potentially devastating effects of development particularly through deforestation and the replacement of native flora with European varieties Wright then uses J M Coetzee's Disgrace South Africa Yann Martel's Life of Pi India and Canada and Joy Williams's The Quick and the Dead United States to explore the use of animals as metaphors for subjugated groups of individuals The third chapter deals with India's water crisis via Arundhati Roy's activism and her novel The God of Small Things Finally Wright looks at three novels Flora Nwapa's Efuru Nigeria Keri Hulme's The Bone People New Zealand and Sindiwe Magona's Mother to Mother South Africa that depict women's relationships to the land from which they have been dispossessed Throughout Wilderness into Civilized Shapes Wright rearticulates questions about the role of the writer of fiction as environmental activist and spokesperson the connections between animal ethics and environmental responsibility and the potential perpetuation of a neocolonial framework founded on western commodification and resource based imperialism

Postcolonial Ecocriticism and the Cultural Politics of Nature in Belize Megan Ann Casey,2007 Monatshefte ,2009 Choice ,2009 Mosaic

,2011-03 Scientific Cultures - Technological Challenges Klaus Benesch,Meike Zwingenberger,2009 In 11 original essays highly reputed scholars from both the United States and Europe take a fresh look at the plurality of contemporary scientific cultures and their respective methodologies and discursive practices While some investigate recent advancements in life and computer sciences nanotechnologies robotics genetic coding electronic communication and databases etc and their repercussions in the social and political field others discuss new approaches especially in the humanities that may help to bridge the gulf between the two cultures C P Snow and open up new perspectives for cross cultural fertilization Each essay if to varying degrees also probes the regulatory political and institutional mechanisms that determine both the success and public acceptance and reputation of specific scientific cultures particularly with respect to scientific ethics and the frequently invoked moral obligation of scientists and researchers

Nature from Transcendentalism to the Harlem Renaissance Paul Outka,2008-07-15 Winner of the 2009 Biennial Prize for Ecocriticism from the Association for the Study of Literature and the Environment Race and Nature from Transcendentalism to the Harlem Renaissance examines a neglected but centrally important issue in critical race studies and ecocriticism how natural experience became racialized in America from the antebellum period through the early twentieth century Drawing on theories of sublimity and trauma the book offers a critical and cultural history of the racial fault line in American environmentalism that to this day divides largely white wilderness preservation groups and the largely minority environmental justice movement Outka offers a detailed exploration of the historically fraught relation between the construction of natural experience and of white and black racial identity In denaturalizing race and racializing nature the book bridges race theory and ecocriticism in a way vitally important to both disciplines    Alien Soil Rachel Mieko Pouri Azima,2008    The Robert Frost Review ,2004    American Book Publishing Record ,2007    MLA International Bibliography of Books and Articles on the Modern Languages and Literatures ,2007    The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2007    Explorations in Ecocriticism Paul Lindholdt,2015-04-09 A chief innovation of

Explorations in Ecocriticism is to push ecological criticism beyond its focus on literary studies to engage with other arts and culture One chapter closely examines the pictures commissioned by the U S Bureau of Reclamation to valorize its big dam projects Previously no one has written about the large art collection that toured the nation under the auspices of the Smithsonian in the early 1970s when the Bureau of Reclamation was under fire and new environmental regulations were becoming law Another chapter An Iconography of Sabotage previously published in France as part of a Paris symposium looks at the pictorial dimension of saboteurs throughout American history with a special emphasis on the IWW and Earth First The book draws extensively on the social sciences Ecology and environment are treated too often as technical topics that go over the heads of lay readers Many Americans care about air and water quality the extinction of species and the unfortunate politicization of science But they also find the discourse daunting the details exceedingly complex By leavening such heavy subjects with current events Explorations in Ecocriticism makes environmental issues accessible to lay readers and offers routes to sustainability in the United States today
