Committing The Future To Memory History Experience Trauma:

Committing the Future to Memory Sarah Clift, 2013 This title examines canonical philosophies of history memory and identity in the context of contemporary interest in finitude and the temporalities of trauma Engaging texts spanning multiple genres and several centuries from John Locke to Maurice Blanchot from Hegel to Benjamin Clift combines close readings with conceptual generalization to bring those works together as sites where the pressure to think about the impact of history on individual and collective identities is at its highest Sentient Pasts, Trauma, and Counter-Narrative Abhishek Trehan, 2025-10-02 Drawing upon the theories of memory studies this book challenges the historical authenticity of colonialism in the works of douard Glissant Caryl Phillips and Tierno Mon nembo as they seek to place their fiction in the aftermath of reparative histories Trehan examines not only the histories of displacement diasporic traditions genocidal trauma or continuation of colonialist affiliations in postcolonial societies but the creative resistance to hegemony Focusing on the embedded historical memory the author examines the implications of remembrance including selective remembering and forgetting in the process of decolonization bringing forth the struggle of representation and recognition This book probes the transmission of traumatic memory across generations by amplifying the nexus between history and memory reading beyond nation based interpretations By comparing the continuity of colonial legacy in the works of Glissant Phillips and Mon nembo Trehan examines a model of postcolonial inheritance to understand how ordinary people relate to the question of political expression by focusing on the colonial history memory and trauma From Dictatorship to Democracy Gisele Iecker de Almeida, 2024-12-11 In From Dictatorship to Democracy Confronting the Authoritarian Past in Brazil Dr Gisele Iecker de Almeida offers a thought provoking examination of how government initiatives construct representations of the past and can play a crucial role in shaping collective memory Focusing on Brazil s difficult heritage this groundbreaking monograph delves into the complex landscape of memory surrounding the dictatorship and its enduring legacies Through a critical analysis of Brazilian policies implemented between 1995 and 2016 including the Special Commission on Political Deaths and Disappearances the Amnesty Commission Revealed Memories and the Brazilian National Truth Commission de Almeida unveils how these initiatives have attempted to influence the understanding and perception of the dictatorship This book challenges the notion of a purely factual and neutral approach to remembering the past illuminating how memory policymaking and historical interpretation are intricately intertwined It examines the interplay between memory and politics shedding light on how government initiatives actively participate in the process of constructing representations of the past From the selective portrayal of events to the formulation of grand narratives about the past de Almeida presents a comprehensive analysis of the discursive mechanisms and rhetorical patterns employed by Brazilian transitional justice initiatives This monograph is an indispensable resource for scholars policymakers and anyone interested in memory politics transitional justice and the construction of representations of the past It offers a fresh perspective on the power dynamics involved in memory making and invites readers to critically reflect on how the past is represented Tiny Mairead Case, 2020-12-15 Tiny is a poetic retelling of Sophocles Antigone. Instead of having two brothers who kill each other in a civil war, Tiny has one who kills himself after coming home from a far away war. Our heroine mourns her brother forever but with best friend Izzy, boyfriend Hank, and a collective dance night held in an old artificial limb store, she escapes freezing herself in grief too.

On Paradox Elizabeth S. Anker, 2022-10-28 In On Paradox, literary and legal scholar Elizabeth S. Anker contends that faith in the logic of paradox has been the cornerstone of left intellectualism since the second half of the twentieth century. She attributes the ubiquity of paradox in the humanities to its appeal as an incisive tool for exposing and dismantling hierarchies. Tracing the ascent of paradox in theories of modernity, rights discourse, the history of literary criticism, and the linguistic turn, and in the transformation of the liberal arts in higher education, Anker suggests that paradox not only generates the very exclusions it critiques but also creates a disempowering haze of indecision. She shows that reasoning through paradox has become deeply problematic; it engrains a startling homogeneity of thought while undercutting the commitment to social justice that remains a guiding imperative of theory. Rather than calling for a wholesale abandonment of such reasoning, Anker argues for an expanded, diversified theory toolkit that can help theorists escape the seductions and traps of paradox.

Committing the Future to Memory Sarah Clift, 2013 This title examines canonical philosophies of history, memory, and identity in the context of contemporary interest in finitude and the temporalities of trauma. Engaging texts spanning multiple genres and several centuries, from John Locke to Maurice Blanchot, from Hegel to Benjamin Clift, combines close readings with conceptual generalization to bring those works together as sites where the pressure to think about the impact of history on individual and collective identities is at its highest.

History, Memory, and Trans-European Identity Aline Sierp, 2014-06-20 This book questions the presupposition voiced by many historians and political scientists that political experiences in Europe continue to be interpreted in terms of national history and that a European community of remembrance still does not exist. By tracing the evolution of specific memory cultures in two successor countries of the Fascist-Nazi regime, Italy and Germany, and the impact of structural changes upon them, the book investigates wider democratic processes, particularly concerning the conservation and transmission of values and the definition of identity on different levels. It argues that the creation of a transnational European memory culture does not necessarily imply the erasure of national and local forms of remembrance. It rather means the creation of a further supranational arena where diverging memories can find their expression and can be dealt with in a different way. Through the triangulation of agents of memory construction, constraints and opportunities, and actual portrayals of the past, this volume explores the difficulties faced by a multinational entity like the EU in reaching some kind of consensus on such a sensitive subject as history.

The Future of Memory Richard Crownshaw, Jane Kilby, Antony Rowland, 2010-11-01 Memory studies has become a rapidly growing area of scholarly as well as public interest. This volume brings together world experts to explore the current critical trends in this new academic field It embraces work on diverse but interconnected phenomena such as twenty first century museums shocking memorials in present day Rwanda and the firsthand testimony of the victims of genocidal conflicts The collection engages with pressing real world issues such as the furor around the recent 9 11 memorial and what we really mean when we talk about trauma

Future Tense Roxanne Panchasi, 2009 In the years between the world wars French intellectuals politicians and military leaders came to see certain encounters between human and machine organic and artificial national and international culture as premonitions of a future that was alternately unsettling and utopian Skyscrapers airplanes and gas masks were seen as traces in the present of a future world its technologies and its possible transformations In Future Tense Roxanne Panchasi illuminates both the anxieties and the hopes of a period when many French people traumatized by what their country had already suffered seemed determined to anticipate and shape the future Future Tense which features many compelling illustrations depicts experts proposing the prosthetic enhancement of the nation's bodies and homes architects discussing whether skyscrapers should be banned from Paris military strategists creating a massive fortification network the Maginot Line and French delegates to the League of Nations declaring their opposition to the artificial international language Esperanto Drawing on a wide range of sources Panchasi explores representations of the body the city and territorial security as well as changing understandings of a French civilization many believed to be threatened by Americanization Panchasi makes clear that memories of the past and even nostalgia for what might be lost in the future were crucial features of the culture of anticipation that emerged in the interwar period

History, Memory and Mass Atrocity Dan Stone, 2006 The book's main theme is the interpretation of the Holocaust and genocide in historiography philosophy and the contemporary culture of commemoration Running through the essays is an attempt to understand the Holocaust's relationship to modernity the need to find ways of understanding genocide through apparently non rational forms of explanation especially derived from anthropology and the desirability of relating the Holocaust to other instances of genocide The book investigates the ways in which individual thinkers Malinowski Arendt Bataille Perec Ricoeur can help us conceptualise the Holocaust and also deals with many of the major themes of Holocaust and Genocide Studies in recent years problems of handling testimony problems of erecting monuments and museums the representability of the Holocaust through texts photographs monuments and museums the possibility of understanding why individuals take part in genocide and the relationship of the Holocaust to colonial genocide Contains previously inaccessible essays The book is arranged into four sections interpretations of the origins and nature of the Holocaust studies of individual thinkers responses to the Holocaust questions of representation and commemoration and understanding genocide

Cultural Memories of Origin Frank Wilker, 2017 Cultural Memories of Origin focuses on how the second maritime leg of the African slave trade commonly referred to as the Middle Passage is represented in select literary and artistic works of African American culture The book analyses several discursive aesthetic and political shifts in the memory production about the transatlantic slave trade and discusses their ramifications for the construction of black identity in the U S Given the deracinating nature that the middle passage experience had on African subjects as well as the representational difficulties in portraying this rupture the book s analytical framework incorporates theories of trauma By addressing the productive contrast and the methodological differences that exist in between what is in general deemed historical scholarship on the one hand and cultural memory on the other the book contributes to the ongoing discussion about the possibility of an involuntary inheritability of traumatic events

Conflict and memory Franz-Lothar Altmann,2010 Conflict and Memory presents a collection of essays focusing reconstructed past in Europe The book approaches the Balkans as integral part of the common European history In fact many countries that are already European Union members also have conflicting memories and are to this very day involved in a complex process of first coming to terms with their own past second acknowledging each others conflicting memories and third trying to re construct a common European memory as part of transnational memory spaces The essays highlight the different memory discourses Against the background of country specific and comparative studies they offer convincing analyses and arguments as to why the process of dealing with the past has to be seen both against the background of European history and in the context of the European Union integration process Ariel ,2016 Emotional Rehabilitation of Physical Trauma and Disability David W.
