Caregiving Across the Lifespan Ronda C. Talley, Rhonda J.V. Montgomery, 2012-12-21 Most scholars do not consider the long term nature of caregiving but rather focus on a specific developmental period e.g. old age or a specific disability e.g. cancer. Yet the most important lessons about caregiving may occur at any age regardless of disabilities or other limitations. Caregiving is a lifelong process. It begins in a mother's womb and continues throughout the lifespan and ends after death. Caregiving Across the Lifespan emphasizes caregiving as a process that occurs throughout one's life. It discusses infant care, the developmental needs of children and adolescents, the many caregiving issues in adulthood and mid life, and finally end of life care and bereavement. Key coverage includes Examining caregiving issues across a developmental perspective, Caregiving from infancy through early childhood through end of life, Mid life and multigenerational bonds and responsibilities, Caregiver identity in older adults, Family caregiving at the end of life. This must have volume offers a wealth of insights and ideas for researchers, practitioners and graduate students across the caregiving fields including psychology, social work, public health, geriatrics and gerontology and medicine as well as public and education policy makers.

Textbook of Palliative Care Communication Elaine Wittenberg PhD, Betty R. Ferrell RN, PhD, MA, FAAN, FPCN, CHPN, Joy Goldsmith PhD, Thomas Smith MD, Sandra Ragan MD, Myra Glajchen, The Rev. George Handzo, 2015-10-23 The Textbook of Palliative Care Communication is the authoritative text on communication in palliative care providing a compilation of international and interdisciplinary perspectives. The volume was uniquely developed by an interdisciplinary editorial team to address an array of providers including physicians, nurses, social workers and chaplains and unites clinicians with academic researchers interested in the study of communication. By featuring practical conversation and curriculum tools stemming from research this text integrates scholarship and inquiry into translatable content that others can use to improve their practice, teach skills to others and engage in patient centered communication The volume begins by defining communication explicating debatable issues in research and highlighting specific approaches to studying communication in a palliative care context Chapters focus on health literacy and cultural communication patient and family communication barriers and approaches to discussing palliative care with specific patient populations discussing pain life support advance care planning and quality of life topics such as sexuality spirituality hope and grief Team communication in various care settings is outlined and current research and education for healthcare professionals are summarized Unique to this volume are chapters on conducting communication research both qualitatively and quantitatively to promote further research in palliative care

Caring for Our Own Sandra R. Levitsky,2014-04-17 Caring for Our Own inverts an enduring question of social welfare politics Rather than ask why the American state hasn't responded to unmet social welfare needs by expanding social entitlements this book asks Why don't American families view unmet social welfare needs as the basis for demands for new state entitlements The answer Sandra Levitsky argues lies in a better understanding of how individuals imagine solutions to the social welfare problems they confront and what prevents new understandings of social welfare provision from developing into political demand for alternative social arrangements Caring for Our Own considers the powerful ways in which existing social policies shape the political imagination reinforcing longstanding values about family responsibility subverting grievances grounded in notions of social responsibility and in some rare cases constructing new models of social provision that transcend existing ideological divisions in American social politics

Evolving Eldercare in Contemporary China Lin Chen,2016-04-11 With an increasing number of elders moving into nursing homes the shift from family to nursing home care calls for an exploration of caregiving decision making in urban China This study examines how a rapidly growing aging population the one child policy and economic reform in urban China pose unprecedented challenges to the country's ingrained tradition of family caregiving It presents interviews of matched elders and their children from a government sponsored nursing home in Shanghai and analyzes the decision making process of institutionalization This book offers fresh insight into the evolving culture and arrangements of caregiving in contemporary Chinese society illuminating the diverse needs for long term care of Chinese elders the world's largest aging population in the coming decades

Describes models of caregiver support in work settings. Reimagines the delivery of long term services and supports with novel initiatives. Reimagining Mental Health and Addiction Under the Covid-19 Pandemic, Volume 1

Dionisio Nyaga, Rose Ann Torres, 2024-07-13. This edited collection is a follow up to Algoma University's inaugural conference on mental health and addiction held at the Brampton campus in Ontario Canada. We live in a society where many marginalized communities continue to bear a historically disproportionate burden on their psychological, mental, and economic well being especially under the Covid 19 pandemic. Covid 19 has had a continuing impact on marginalized and racialized communities at all levels. We are now witnessing the compounded effects in the form of a worsening mental health and addiction crisis and its subsequent impact on children's education service delivery and overall psychosocial well being. Covid 19 has widened the gap and increased poverty disparities between high income and low income individuals. Furthermore, it has affected the psychosocial resilience of people. As communities of scholars, practitioners, and researchers, we have a responsibility to address these existential issues in ways that are ethical and transformative. This type of engagement should help mitigate the consequences of the pandemic in an intersectional manner. These conversations should assist us in understanding and addressing the trauma and suffering that marginalized communities and individuals continue to endure. Together we can work to find answers to mental health and addiction challenges while valuing people's histories and realities within this intersectional engagement. This book aims to redefine psychiatric discourse in the age of the pandemic and encourage us to imagine how the world can be reformed in ways that are both ethical and political. It has the potential to shed light on the values and realities of communities in discussions of medical sociology, particularly concerning the impact of Covid 19 on marginalized communities. This book is structured into three volumes. Volume one delves into the repercussions of the COVID 19 pandemic on the mental health of various ethnic groups. Volume two specifically addresses the impact of the pandemic on the mental health of Afro Black individuals. Volume three explores the connections between the COVID 19 pandemic, psychological well being, and colonialism.

Handbook of Social Psychology Jan E. Stets, Karen A. Hegtvedt, Long Doan, 2025-08-31. This third edition of the highly successful handbook is presented for the first time in two volumes, covering the field of social psychology more comprehensively than earlier, including applying social psychology to different areas in sociology. It showcases the dynamics of social psychological phenomena across the micro level, Volume 1, and meso and macro levels of social reality, Volume 2. The reader will see how social psychology can be leveraged at the interactive level within groups and larger units and across many aspects of society thus showing the expansiveness of social psychology in understanding social behavior social organization and social structures Volume 2 highlights the relevance of social psychological principles and processes to social categories groups and organizations at the meso level and to institutions and inequality that reflect social life at the macro level Chapters pertaining to the meso level analyze individuals memberships in social categories such as gender race class age and sexuality Additionally meso level concerns spotlight the context of work and organizations Chapters at the macro level consider social psychologically oriented work in such institutions as the family education and religion and examine other areas such as crime and deviance the media immigration and health Together the two volumes provide the reader with theoretical tools useful in understanding the basics of individual behavior while highlighting how social psychological processes emerge in a variety of contexts The connections among micro meso and macro levels through the lens of social psychology forge new pathways to understanding the various forms of inequality plaguing the social world
