What is the phonics screening check?

The phonics screening check is a test that is given to children in Year One. It is designed to assess their phonics skills. The test consists of a series of words that the child has to read aloud. The words are chosen so that they contain different phonics sounds. The child's score is based on how many words they read correctly. The phonics screening check is an important part of the Year One curriculum.

Phonics screening check results are used to help teachers plan their lessons. If a child has a low score, the teacher can provide extra support. If a child has a high score, the teacher can provide more challenging work. The phonics screening check is a helpful tool for teachers and parents. It helps them to understand their child's phonics skills and to provide the best possible support.
