The following table gives a summary of the discounts available on the various items in the catalog. The discounts shown are the maximum discounts available for each item. The discounts are based on the original price of the item, not on the price after previous discounts have been applied.

For example, if a customer takes a 10% discount on a $100.00 item, the price will be $90.00. If the customer then takes an additional 20% discount on the $90.00 item, the price will be $72.00.

The discounts shown in the table are the maximum discounts available for each item.

Product Prices: Item prices are $100.00 unless $100.00 is explicitly stated. Item prices are based on the original price of the item, not on the price after previous discounts have been applied.
