Art and Dance in Dialogue Sarah Whatley,Imogen Racz,Katerina Paramana,Marie-Louise Crawley,2020-11-07 This interdisciplinary book brings together essays that consider how the body enacts social and cultural rituals in relation to objects spaces and the everyday and how these are questioned explored and problematised through and translated into dance art and performance The chapters are written by significant artists and scholars and consider practices from various locations including Central and Western Europe Mexico and the United States

The authors build on dialogues between for example philosophy and museum studies and memory studies and post humanism and engage with a wide range of theory from phenomenology to relational aesthetics to New Materialism Thus this book represents a unique collection that together considers the continuum between everyday and cultural life and how rituals and memories are inscribed onto our being It will be of interest to scholars and practitioners students and teachers and particularly those who are curious about the intersections between arts disciplines

Towards a Film Theory from Below

Jiri Anger,2024-05-30 Operating between film theory media philosophy archival practice and audiovisual research Jiri Anger focuses on the relationship between figuration and materiality in early films experimental found footage cinema and video essays Would it be possible to do film theory from below through the perspective of moving image objects of their multifarious details and facets however marginal unintentional or aleatory they might be Could we treat scratches stains and shakes in archival footage as speculatively and aesthetically generative features Do these material actors have the capacity to create weird shapes within the figurative image that decenter distort and transform the existing conceptual and methodological frameworks Building on his theoretical as well as practical experience with the recently digitized corpus of the first Czech films created by Jan Kreneck between 1898 and 1911 the author demonstrates how technological defects and accidents in archival films shape their aesthetic function and our understanding of the materiality of film in the digital age The specific clashes between the figurative and material spheres are understood through the concept of a crack up This term developed by Francis Scott Fitzgerald and theoretically reimagined by Gilles Deleuze allows us to capture the convoluted relationship between figuration and materiality as inherent to the medium of film containing negativity and productivity difference and simultaneity contingency and fate at the same time even within the tiniest cinematic units

New Materialism and Art Yukiko Ueda,2019 This paper will investigate the rise of new materialism in the 21st century a philosophy that suggests that all substances are related to each other regardless of human perception Current technological innovations such as artificial intelligence and digital media are prompting changes in various fields such as medicine engineering and the arts Concurrently demand for new sources of energy and raw materials is rapidly increasing around the world causing a new wave of problems in areas such as environmental conservation and nuclear waste management This paper will explore why these difficult problems will continue to arise in the 21st century and will examine the rise of new materialism as a new way to address the cause of these issues These new ideas collectively termed new materialism here are precipitating a major transition in the role of contemporary art in the current technological age I believe that a shift in art sensibilities is currently taking place a transition that may be as significant as the transition from idealism to materialism in the early 20th century In this paper I state why I change my art objective according to my comprehension of new materialism with the two categories as the motto of thesis project 1 to change my view point from human to post human post Anthropocene and 2 to enlarge my view field to see hidden connections of matter I will design new materialism based artworks in an effort to create art from a post Anthropocene point of view for my thesis exhibition New Materialism Nicholas J. Fox, Pam Alldred, 2020 New materialism is a term ascribed to a range of contemporary perspectives in the arts humanities and social sciences that have in common a theoretical and practical turn to matter This turn emphasizes the materiality of the world and everything social and natural within it and differentiates new materialisms from a poststructuralist focus upon texts systems of thought and discourses focusing upon social production rather than social construction Deleuze other animate organisms material things spaces places and the natural and built environment that these contain and material forces including gravity and time Also included may be abstract concepts human constructs and human epiphenomena such as imagination memory and thoughts though not themselves
