Weed Tom Decorte,2016-02-11 For the majority of its history the cultivation of cannabis did not stand out at least compared to the cultivation of other illegal plants Cannabis plantations like coca bush or opium poppy plantations were typically large in size grown by local farmers in a handful of developing producing countries processed and then exported to industrial consuming nations While cocaine and heroin are still produced in a handful of developing countries cannabis cultivation is increasingly universal From Europe to the Americas and Oceania import substitution in cannabis markets has been noticed in almost every developed country around the world with a notable aversion for discrimination Geographical technological cultural and economic factors help to explain why indoor and outdoor domestic cultivation is well established and why the nature and extent of cultivation varies so dramatically across the western developed nations As we start the second decade of the 21st century the new cannabis industry continues to fascinate both casual and academic observers of the drug scene Researchers around the world have become increasingly interested in the phenomenon aiming to describe and potentially explain the rapid switch from importation to domestic production in their own countries In bringing together some of the world s leading experts on cannabis cultivation this book contains sixteen chapters that take an interdisciplinary look at global trends in cannabis cultivation It will serve as an exemplar for wider discussions of key theories and concepts relating to the spread not just of cannabis cultivation but also of illegal markets more generally the actors that operate within these markets and the policies and practices that are employed in response to developments within these markets Routledge

Handbook of South-South Relations Elena Fiddian-Qasmiyeh,Patricia Daley,2018-12-07 South South cooperation is becoming ever more important to states policy makers and academics Many Northern states international agencies and NGOs are promoting South South partnerships as a means of sharing the burden in funding and undertaking development assistance and protection activities often in response to increased political and financial pressures on their own aid budgets However the mainstreaming of Southern led initiatives by UN agencies and Northern states is paradoxical in many ways especially because the development of a South South cooperation paradigm was originally conceptualised as a necessary way to overcome the exploitative nature of North South relations in the era of decolonisation This handbook critically explores diverse ways of defining the South and of conceptualising and engaging with South South relations Through 30 state of the art reviews of key academic and policy debates the handbook evaluates past present and future opportunities and challenges of South South cooperation and lays out research agendas for the next 5 10 years The book covers key models of cooperation including internationalism Pan Arabism and Pan Africanism diverse modes of South South connection exchange and support including South South aid transnational activism and migration and responses to displacement violence and conflict including Southern led humanitarianism peace building and conflict resolution In so doing the handbook reflects on decolonial postcolonial and anticolonial theories and methodologies exploring urgent questions regarding the nature and implications of conducting research in and about the global South and of applying a Southern lens to a wide range of encounters processes and dynamics across the global South and global North alike This handbook will be of great interest to scholars and post graduate students in anthropology area studies cultural studies development studies history geography international relations politics postcolonial studies and sociology
