Be open to everything you can remake your life. Make peace, not war with words, create belief and confidence. It takes teamwork to make the dream work, seek caring, creative allies. Nurture your relationships, they are the core of your success. A new world opens with networking. But George Fraser doesn't stop there. He shows you how to go from networking to connecting when you experience that heartfelt feeling of trust and exciting burst of energy with someone. In 11 Laws of Likability, she presents activities, self-assessment quizzes and real-life anecdotes from professional and social settings to show readers how to identify what's likable in themselves and use those characteristics to build connections with other professionals. The worst thing anyone can do when trying to establish a personal bond with someone is to come across as manipulative or self-serving. That's why Michelle focuses on the power of authentic connections which go much deeper and feel much easier than trying to hit self-imposed business card collection quotas. This book presents a new paradigm that shows even the most networking-averse how to network well and maybe even enjoy the process. You'll discover how to start conversations and keep them going with ease, convert acquaintances into friends, uncover people's preferences, tweak your personal style to enable engaging reciprocal interactions and leave a lasting impression on others after your initial meeting.

We all know that networking is important and that forming relationships with others is a vital part of success. But traditional forms of networking often remove emotions from the equation focusing only on immediate goals. This book teaches readers how to build the kind of deep relationships that have true staying power bring genuine joy and provide long term support.
