Global Trends in Translator and Interpreter Training Séverine Hubscher-Davidson,Michal Borodo,2012-06-07 This book looks at translator and interpreter training focusing on mediation and culture in a global context It updates numerous research currents in translator and interpreter education by situating them in relation to broader curricular and technological discussions Particular attention is given to the way in which translator and interpreter training relates both to other topics on university curricula and to recent developments in the professional sphere of language mediation These include the new European standard for translation services and the ethical training of interpreters The significant impact of new technologies in translation is also studied These discussions take place in the context of an increasingly mature and sophisticated theoretical environment of translator and interpreter training research one which recognizes the implications of discourses such as constructivism and objectives oriented design for new pedagogies in the field

Global Child Myriam Denov,Claudia Mitchell,Marjorie Rabiau,2023-01-13 Armed conflicts continue to wreak havoc on children and families around the world with profound effects In 2017 420 million children nearly one in five were living in conflict affected areas an increase in 30 million from the previous year The recent surge in war induced migration referred to as a global refugee crisis has made migration a highly politicized issue with refugee populations and host countries facing unique challenges We know from research related to asylum seeking families that it is vital to think about children and families in relation to what it means to stay together what it means for parents to be separated from their children and the kinds of everyday tensions that emerge in living in dangerous insecure and precarious circumstances In Global Child the authors draw on what they have learned through their collaborative undertakings and highlight the unique features of participatory arts based and socio ecological approaches to studying war affected children and families demonstrating the collective strength as well as the limitations and ethical implications of such research Building on work across the Global South and the Global North this book aims to deepen an understanding of their tri pillar approach and the potential of this methodology for contributing to improved practices in working with war affected children and their families individual chapters indicate that the passion for the subject is global while the actual translations of practices and policies are very much local. The book expands the debate about Media Education beyond the traditions and interests of one part of the world to encompass the needs of the rest. Children's Literature Abstracts, 1988
