Guide to Energy Management in Buildings Douglas Harris,2016-11-29 This new edition of A Guide to Energy

A

Management in Buildings begins by asking why we need to control energy use in buildings and proceeds to discuss how the energy consumption of a building can be assessed or estimated through an energy audit. It then details a range of interventions to reduce energy use and outlines methods of assessing the cost effectiveness of such measures. Topics covered include where and how energy is used in buildings, energy audits, measuring and monitoring energy use, techniques for reducing energy use in buildings, legislative issues, and new in this edition, the cooling of buildings, fuel costs and smart metering and education and professional recognition. It provides a template for instigating the energy management process within an organization as well as guidance on management issues such as employee motivation and gives practical details on how to carry the process through. This book should appeal to building and facilities managers and also to students of energy management modules in FE and HE courses.

European Building Construction Illustrated Francis D. K. Ching, Mark

Mulville, 2014-02-10 The first European edition of Francis DK Ching's classic visual guide to the basics of building construction. For nearly four decades the US publication Building Construction Illustrated has offered an outstanding introduction to the principles of building construction. This new European edition focuses on the construction methods most commonly used in Europe, referring largely to UK Building Regulations overlaid with British and European while applying Francis DK Ching's clear graphic signature style. It provides a coherent and essential primer presenting all of the basic concepts underlying building construction and equipping readers with useful guidelines for approaching any new materials or techniques they may encounter. European Building Construction Illustrated provides a comprehensive and lucid presentation of everything from foundations and floor systems to finish work. Laying out the material and structural choices available, it provides a full understanding of how these choices affect a building's form and dimensions. Complete with more than 1000 illustrations, the book moves through each of the key stages of the design process from site selection to building components, mechanical systems and finishes. Illustrated throughout with clear and accurate drawings that effectively communicate construction processes and materials. Provides an overview of the mainstream construction methods used in Europe. Based around the UK regulatory framework, the book refers to European level regulations where appropriate. References leading environmental assessment methods of BREEAM and LEED while outlining the Passive House Standard. Includes emerging construction methods driven by the sustainability agenda such as structural insulated panels and insulating concrete formwork. Features a chapter dedicated to construction in the Middle East focusing on the Gulf States.

Building Services Design for Energy Efficient Buildings Paul Tymkow, Savvas Tassou, Maria Kolokotroni, Hussam Jouhara, 2020-07-12 The role and influence of building services engineers are undergoing rapid change and are pivotal to achieving low carbon buildings. However, textbooks in the field have tended to remain fairly traditional with a detailed focus on the technicalities of heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) systems, often with little wider context. This book addresses that need by embracing a contemporary understanding of the urgent challenge to address climate change together.

with practical approaches to energy efficiency and carbon mitigation for mechanical and electrical systems in a concise manner. The essential conceptual design issues for planning the principal building services systems that influence energy efficiency are examined in detail. These are HVAC and electrical systems. In addition the following issues are addressed: background issues on climate change, whole life performance and design collaboration; generic strategies for energy efficient, low carbon design; health and wellbeing and post occupancy evaluation; building ventilation, air conditioning and HVAC system selection; thermal energy generation and distribution systems; low energy approaches for thermal control; electrical systems data collection, controls and monitoring; building thermal load assessment; building electric power load assessment; space planning and design integration with other disciplines. In order to deliver buildings that help mitigate climate change impacts a new perspective is required for building services engineers from the initial conceptual design and throughout the design collaboration with other disciplines. This book provides a contemporary introduction and guide to this new approach for students and practitioners alike.

Heating Services in Buildings David E. Watkins, 2011-09-26. Water based heating systems are efficient, flexible, versatile and offer many advantages over other heating systems. These advantages fast response, good controllability, efficient zonal heating and largely silent operation all require that initial design, installation, commissioning and maintenance be carried out to a high standard by competent engineers. Heating Services in Buildings provides the reader with a detailed and thorough understanding of the principles and elements of heating buildings using modern water based heating systems. A key theme of the book is that there is little difference in the approach to the design and engineering between domestic and commercial installations. The author's detailed but highly practical approach to the subject ensures there is sufficient information for students from both a craft background and those with more academic backgrounds to understand the material. This approach is complemented by straightforward, easy to use diagrams. Heating Services in Buildings supports a range of educational courses including degree level building services engineering, NVQ Level 4 Higher Professional Diploma in Building Services Engineering, City Guilds supplementary heating course and the Heating Design and Installation Course accredited by the European Registration Scheme ERS.

Air Conditioning David Chadderton, 2014-05-09. David Chadderton's Air Conditioning is the complete introduction and reference guide for students and practitioners of air conditioning design, installation and maintenance. The scientific principles involved are introduced with the help of case studies and exercises and downloadable spreadsheets help you work through important calculations. New chapters on peak summertime air temperature in buildings without cooling systems, air duct acoustic calculations and air conditioning system cost enhance the usefulness to design engineers. Case studies are created from real life data including PROBE post occupancy reports relating all of the theoretical explanations to current practice. Trends and recent applications in lowering energy use by air conditioning are also addressed keeping the reader informed of the latest sustainable air conditioning technologies. Over 75 multiple choice questions will help the reader check on their progress.

Covering both tropical and temperate climates this is the ideal book for those learning about the basic principles of air conditioning seeking to understand the latest technological developments or maintaining a successful HVAC practice anywhere in the world Building Services Journal, 2007 Building Control Systems Peter Warburton, K. J.

Butcher, 2009 Beginning with an overview of the benefits of the modern building control system the authors go on to describe the different controls and their applications and include advice on their set up and tuning for stable operation

Architectural Science Review, 2001 Architectural Publications Index, 2002 Encyclopedia of Architectural Technology Jacqueline Glass, 2002-04-03 Constant technological advancements are opening up dramatic new possibilities for the built form at the same time architects are developing innovative designs which require new techniques to make these ideas reality The Encyclopedia of Architectural Technology is the first book to specifically address these two issues by providing a comprehensive reference to modern architectural technologies encompassing all key aspects of construction structures environmental design and servicing The Encyclopaedia features over 180 entries ranging from materials and techniques to notable innovators in architecture and engineering Each entry includes a brief quick reference summary followed by a more detailed text and suggestions for further reading Besides technological terms entries are included on related topics such as sick building syndrome and sustainability Key engineers Ove Arup and Ted Happold have dedicated entries as do a range of ground breaking architects such as Le Corbusier Norman Foster Walter Gropius Herzog de Meuron Oscar Niemeyer Richard Rogers Carlo Scarpa Frank Lloyd Wright Ken Yeang and many others Walford's Guide to
