Methodology for the Cryptanalysis of Classical Ciphers with Search Metaheuristics George Lasry,2018 Cryptography the art and science of creating secret codes and cryptanalysis the art and science of breaking secret codes underwent a similar and parallel course during history Both fields evolved from manual encryption methods and manual codebreaking techniques to cipher machines and codebreaking machines in the first half of the 20th century and finally to computerbased encryption and cryptanalysis from the second half of the 20th century However despite the advent of modern computing technology some of the more challenging classical cipher systems and machines have not yet been successfully cryptanalyzed For others cryptanalytic methods exist but only for special and advantageous cases such as when large amounts of ciphertext are available Starting from the 1990s local search metaheuristics such as hill climbing genetic algorithms and simulated annealing have been employed and in some cases successfully for the cryptanalysis of several classical ciphers In most cases however results were mixed and the application of such methods rather limited in their scope and performance In this work a robust framework and methodology for the cryptanalysis of classical ciphers using local search metaheuristics mainly hill climbing and simulated annealing is described In an extensive set of case studies conducted as part of this research this new methodology has been validated and demonstrated as highly effective for the cryptanalysis of several challenging cipher systems and machines which could not be effectively cryptanalyzed before and with drastic improvements compared to previously published methods This work also led to the decipherment of original encrypted messages from WWI and to the solution for the first time of several public cryptographic challenges featuring timeless quotes from classic literature Anti-Roman Cryptograms in the New Testament Norman A. Beck,2010 The first basic thesis of Anti Roman Cryptograms in the New Testament Hidden Transcripts of Hope and Liberation is that the Jesus of history and his earliest and closest followers during his lifetime and during the decades after he had been crucified by the Romans had not only a deep longing for eternal life with God beyond the limits of this world but also a strong desire for liberation from Roman political economic and social oppression The second basic thesis of Anti Roman Cryptograms in the New Testament is that within the Christian Scriptures there are more hidden transcripts coded messages anti Roman cryptograms of hope and liberation for freedom now within this life than we have realized throughout most of the history of interpretation Hidden transcripts of hope and liberation are coded so that oppressed people are able to communicate to their fellow oppressed people in ways in which their message and their intent are shielded from the perceptions of their oppressors These messages by the Jesus of history and by the writers of New Testament and related literature use the language of faith of salvation of Deity and of adversaries of Deity giving words that are commonly used by the oppressed people new and double meanings Within interaction with other scholars who are publishing studies of hidden transcripts this book is an analysis of hidden transcripts within each of the New Testament documents The book is designed to be used in New Testament Studies courses at undergraduate and or graduate levels by study groups and by all persons who desire a more adequate understanding of the Jesus of history his closest followers and their oral and written communications during the first three centuries C E      Classical Cryptography Course Randall K.
