HB17-1361 Evaluation Report, Evaluation of State IT Resources BerryDunn,2018 CIO Leadership for Cities and Counties - Emerging Trends and Practices Alan R. Shark,2016-08-03 This is the updated second edition where 85 percent of content is completely revised or new The book takes a comprehensive look at the essential elements of CIO Leadership for cities and counties The 30 chapter book covers leadership strategic planning technology practices innovation cyber security cloud services civic engagement digital ethics as well as human resources and the future While a number of books have been published that target the CIO and technology in general this book was developed exclusively to meet the needs and interests of local government officials The book is written by leading experts and practitioners from the government and private sectors With the broad overview of topics that the book addresses and because it is written in a non technical manner the book appeals to a wide number of individuals with an interest in and responsibility for technology programs in the public sector Seven Trends that Will Transform Local Government Through Technology Alan R. Shark,2012 This book lays out an impressive well articulated set of trends that have affected or will soon affect local governments throughout the nation through technology Amazingly as Dr Shark points out all of this massive change has occurred within the past 12 years While technology trends continue to play out in the local government realm public managers mainly city and county managers and assistant city and county managers have experienced quite a number of challenges in navigating the brave new world Dr Shark chose local governments as the primary focus because their jurisdictions are where most innovation and experimentation takes place Despite its focus this book should be especially helpful to state governments and perhaps federal agencies trying to better understand the challenges local governments face The Seven Trends that will Transform Local Government through Technology is a must read for all public managers who are seeking answers about how all the pieces fit together and as importantly why No other book on this subject lays it out as convincingly as this one Summary of a Forum on Spectrum Management Policy Reform National Research Council,Computer Science and Telecommunications Board,Committee on Wireless Technology Prospects and Policy Options,2004-06-17 In 2003 the Department of Commerce s Spectrum Policy Initiative was established with the objective of promoting a more efficient and beneficial use of the spectrum As part of that Initiative a series of public forums about spectrum management policy was held The Computer Science and Telecommunications Board was asked to organize one of these forums a public forum to gather the views of a variety of government and private sector stakeholders about the impact of spectrum policy on their activities This report presents a summary of those views Among those included are those representing national defense homeland security aviation science public safety amateur radio cellular voice and data and terrestrial broadcast uses of the spectrum Although prepared by the NRC the report does not present NRC findings or recommendations A broader study of spectrum policy including findings and recommendations will be issued in early 2005

The Korean Journal of Policy Studies ,2015 White Collar Report ,1981-07 CIO Leadership for Public Safety

Communications Alan R. Shark, 2012-08-01 This is a must read for all managers seeking to better understand the latest trends and practices in the public technology field and how the issue of governance and technology leadership can best be addressed. Do not be fooled by the term CIO Leadership in the book's title as this book is as much about public safety communication leadership as it is about technology and the evolving nature of governance. Technology regardless of its sophistication is nothing more than a set of tools requiring some form of leadership to take advantage of what it does and how it can be best used. Someone however qualified and regardless of rank and title in the public safety organization or government structure is in charge of technology. Many excellent books have been written about specific parts of public safety communications such as radios interoperability leadership Next Gen 911 GIS the integration of voice data and video systems and even social media. Until now no one book has attempted to look at the entire mix and provide a larger framework from multiple authors for better understanding the latest thoughts and trends in this critical area that affects millions of lives each day. Working with APCO International Dr Shark chose to focus on local governments as the primary innovator in this sector. After all this is where innovation and experimentation takes place. The special foreword by Harvard University's Zach Tumin and William J Bratton former chief of police in Los Angeles and former Commissioner of Police in New York City and Boston who together have authored their own book Collaborate or Perish provides for an excellent framework for getting the most out of this book.
