Altman, 2016-08-30 Volume two of a fifty year oral history of Star Trek by the people who were there sharing never before told stories Philosophy for an Ending World Tim Mulgan, 2024 Tim Mulgan introduces a new thought experiment which takes the form of a challenging possible future the world will end in two hundred years and humanity faces unavoidable but not immediate extinction He presents imaginary discussions within this slowly ending world of such topics as the meaning of life and the purpose of the universe Can We Afford the Future? Frank Ackerman, 2009-04-15 According to many scientists climate change is a growing threat to life as we know it requiring a large scale immediate response According to many economists climate change is a moderately important problem the best policy is a slow gradual start to avoid spending too much They can't both be right In this book Frank Ackerman offers a refreshing look at the economics of climate change explaining how the arbitrary assumptions of conventional theories get in the way of understanding this urgent problem The benefits of climate protection are vital but priceless and hence often devalued in cost benefit calculations Preparation for the most predictable outcomes of global warming is less important than protection against the growing risk of catastrophic change massive investment in new low carbon technologies and industries should be thought of as life insurance for the planet Ackerman makes an impassioned plea to construct a better economics arguing that the solutions are affordable and the alternative is unthinkable If we can't afford the future what are we saving our money for Can we Afford the Future is part of The New Economics series which uses the ideas behind a new more human economics to provide a fresh way of looking at major contemporary issues Congressional Record United States.
