Counseling Victims of Violence Sandra L. Brown, 2013-03-15 With violence of all kinds from child abuse and domestic violence to hate crimes and stalking at an all time high today's counselors must be prepared to treat many types of victims Counseling Victims of Violence offers practical guidance and helps a counselor determine if a victim should be referred to a specialist Each chapter covers a specific type of violent victimization detailing which issues to address in each of the three stages of counseling crisis intervention short term and long term and highlighting often overlooked secondary victimizations and social services resources Quick glance reference charts summarize each chapter's contents Helping Survivors of Domestic Violence Judith Gordon, 2016-05-12 First published in 1998 this study investigates the effectiveness of services for helping women who are survivors of domestic violence Looking at a sample from Western and Central Oregon it examines the utilization and perceived effectiveness of resources for survivors and in doing so it systematically assesses the efficacy of community and professional services This book will be of particular interest to social work students and practitioners but will also be helpful to those studying healthcare and law Counselling Adult Survivors of Child Sexual Abuse Christiane Sanderson, 2006 This updated and expanded edition provides comprehensive coverage of the theory and practice of counselling survivors of child sexual abuse CSA In a reasoned and thoughtful approach this book honestly addresses the complex issues in this important area of work providing practical strategies valuable and new insights for counsellors

Namibia Domestic Violence and Sexual Abuse Service Directory, 1999 Counselling Adult Survivors of Child Sexual Abuse Christiane Sanderson, 1990 This updated and expanded edition provides comprehensive coverage of the theory and practice of counselling survivors of child sexual abuse CSA In a reasoned and thoughtful approach this book honestly addresses the complex issues in this important area of work providing practical strategies valuable and new insights for counsellors Canadian Journal of Counselling, 2008 Abused Women and Survivor Therapy Lenore E. Walker, 1994-01-01 In this book Walker posits that the use of traditional psychotherapies for trauma victims has not produced the type of treatment that abused women have found to be truly helpful and that modifications in traditional practice are necessary in order for clinicians to work effectively with abuse victims. These modifications must take into account the impact of the specific form of trauma involved as well as the individual's unique psychological response to the world and the impact of traditional socialization of women and men. The author claims that abuse is widespread and that violence against women occurs in all demographic groups. Her approach is strongly informed by a feminist participatory perspective that emphasizes reempowerment and the client's role in helping to determine the course of therapy. She examines the effects of gender, race, ethnicity, culture and sexual orientation as part of the larger context surrounding the reality of violence against women in society.

National Legal Manual for Counsellors of Raped and Battered Women, 1999 Waikato Law Review, 1996

Working with Elder Abuse Jacki Pritchard, 1996 This practical training manual is written for home care, residential and day care staff who need to be able to recognise elder abuse but may not be trained to do so. Its large format range of exercises and photocopiable worksheets makes it a valuable source of training material.

Help Me Help Her Jessica Yaffa, Dave Franco, 2013-02 I know the subject of Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault from the inside out. I survived the horror of being abused by my husband for nine years and later started a Domestic Violence ministry that has grown larger than anything I ever anticipated. From researching victims and therapists and spending countless hours counseling the women who have come through the ministry I have learned this. Most therapists are underprepared to help in the way they most hope and the way victims most need. This guide is my way of helping you help them.

A Review of Women's Legal Rights Materials in Zimbabwe, 1996 Indian Feminisms Poonam Kathuria, Ābhā Bhaiyā, 2018

This collection of essays focuses on the post 1980s period of the Indian feminist movement a moment rich in new and different modes of resistance of widespread political engagements with issues of rights of justice of identity and much more. The writers here all well known activists and founders of some of the most important feminist institutions describe their individual and collective journeys bringing attention to the movement to their struggles their campaigns their victories and the challenges they have faced. In using the tools of feminist analysis a focus on life stories on oral accounts on group formation and more they also make a case for advocacy through legal and socio political means. Despite being one of the most dynamic of feminist movements in the world the Indian feminist movement has seldom been recognized as such. And yet in addressing how women's oppression and discrimination lie at the intersection of complex inequalities of caste of region and religion of class of patriarchy race ethnicity to name only a few the writers in this volume make a case for the need for constant interpretation reflection and self questioning so that the movement can learn and grow. They show how in India and indeed across much of South Asia it is feminists who have stood against capitalism war and violence environmental degradation and fundamentalism and have forged alliances with varied movements learning from them working at strengthening them but also infusing them with a feminist analysis.
