The assessment of the general condition of the study population and the study conditions is an important part of the study. It is important to know the general condition of the study population and the study conditions before starting the study. This is because the general condition of the study population and the study conditions can affect the results of the study. For example, if the study population is not representative of the general population, the results of the study may not be valid. Similarly, if the study conditions are not controlled, the results of the study may be biased.*
