

RELOADING SAFETY RULES

Reloading is an enjoyable and interesting hobby that is easily combined with other, like many other human endeavors, common sense principles can make reloading hazardous.

The essence of reloading safety is proper handling and storage of powder and primers. By observing the following rules, the chance of dangerous situations becomes extremely remote.

These powder and primers beyond the reach of children and away from heat and open flame. Do not smoke when reloading.

Keep all spent powder in its original factory container. Immediately return unused powder to its original factory container.

Don't use any powder unless its identity is positively known. Keep all unused powders and forms of measure or unknown identity.

Do not pour powder in bulk. Try to use as to create a hazard. Work with your chemicals. Do not use powder when there identity is not fully known or unknown type of powder.
