divides Gender, Masculinity and Video Gaming Marcus Maloney, Steven Roberts, Timothy Graham, 2019-11-23 This book examines gender attitudes in Reddit's popular video gaming community subreddit r/gaming. Video gaming has long been understood as a masculinised social space and while increasing numbers of girls and women now engage in the pastime boys and men remain the predominant social actors. Furthermore the gaming community has been widely identified as a prime case study in broader concerns around toxic masculinity and gendered online harassment. However there is also underexamined evidence of a growing movement in the community coming forward to voice its collective opposition. Utilising an innovative combination of computational and qualitative methods the research undertaken here exposes this fuller picture revealing significant contestation and a spectrum of attitudes that mark out this popular gaming community as a battleground for gender in equality. Students and scholars across a range of disciplines including gender studies, media studies, cultural studies, sociology, games studies and computer sciences will find this book of interest.

An Analysis of the Discourse of Internet Trolling Emily Merritt, Mount Holyoke College, 2012 This study analyzes four online conversations between anonymous users from the social aggregator website Reddit.com using tools from the field of discourse analysis. The methodology of analysis draws from James Paul Gee's 2010 toolkit for discourse analysis combining linguistic and sociological observations to answer questions about not only the qualities of the language of the conversations but also the functions and results of the use of this language. The combination of linguistic and social aspects of discourse includes questions about how participants structure their sentences choose some words over others etc in order to draw attention to certain ideas elicit particular reactions from other participants create identities within an interaction and ultimately shape the social structure of the communication. Through this analysis strides have been made in applying methods from textual discourse analysis and conversation analysis to Internet communication for which the boundary between text and orality is much less clear. Conclusions have also been made about the role linguistic and paralinguistic features such as sentence structure and prosody play in interactions that involve trolling. Generalizations based on the analysis of the data also lead to conclusions about the role trolling can play in influencing online communication in a setting like Reddit.com by de incentivizing certain behaviors
