Movies & Mental Illness Danny Wedding, Mary Ann Boyd, 1999 Movies and Mental Illness by Danny Wedding and Mary Ann Boyd provides students and instructors with an innovative and intriguing approach to studying abnormal psychology. This text utilizes the viewing and discussion of popular films to illuminate and enhance student understanding of abnormal behavior. As educators themselves, the authors have used films to supplement their lectures and have found that films are an ideal medium for teaching students in psychology, social work, medicine, nursing, and counseling about the fascinating world of psychopathology. The text mirrors the table of contents of a typical abnormal psychology text except it uses a main film to illustrate the disorder. Questions are integrated throughout to provide teaching flexibility as well as stimulate critical thinking and classroom discussion. Films may be viewed independently in small groups or in class. A comprehensive appendix provides a listing of films and offers the student and instructor a resource for many years to come. The book is designed to supplement a main abnormal psychology textbook and will be available as a prepack with Abnormal Psychology Eighth Edition by Alloy Jacobson and Acocella. Teaching Allan C. Post Script ,1992 Essays in film and the humanities      American Journal of Health Education ,2002      Teaching One Moment at a Time Dawn Skorczewski,2005 Based on the author s longtime experience as an instructor of composition this book explores the delicate negotiation between teacher and student that determines success or failure in writing courses Dawn Skorczewski s focus is on the role of the teacher in shaping this classroom dynamic particularly the ways in which theoretical presuppositions and personal expectations influence the responses elicited from students Drawing on the insights of psychoanalysis as well as recent infant research Skorczewski argues that the teacher who recognizes the beliefs she brings to the classroom is equipped to listen to her students more carefully than the teacher who holds her beliefs so closely that she can no longer see them as beliefs To show how these unconscious assumptions come into play and to explain their effects Skorczewski looks at a series of key moments in the life of a writing class She examines what it means to enter a classroom and take on the role of a teacher the challenge of leading a discussion the art of designing effective writing assignments the difficulties involved in evaluating student writing the negotiation of issues of authority and the pros and cons of self revelation In each case the author offers not only an analysis of the disruptions that characterize these pedagogical moments but also practical advice for dealing with them Although informed by theory the emphasis throughout is on real issues faced by real teachers in their writing courses
