

Chapter 40: The Immune System and Disease

40-1 Infectious Disease

- A disease is any change, other than injury, that disrupts the normal functions of the body
- Some diseases are inherited, others are caused by materials in the environment, and others are caused by agents such as bacteria, viruses, and fungi
- Disease causing agents are called pathogens
- The work of Louis Pasteur and Robert Koch led to the germ theory of disease, which states that infectious diseases are caused by microorganisms, or germs
- Koch's postulate, a series of guidelines still used today to identify the microorganisms that cause a specific disease:
 1. pathogen identified
 2. pathogen grown in pure culture
 3. pathogen injected into healthy lab mouse
 4. healthy mouse becomes sick
 5. pathogen identified
- Bacteria break down tissues and release toxins
- toxins are poisons that produce illness by disrupting bodily functions
- Viruses reproduce inside the host cell by using materials of the host cell to make copies of itself
- parasites are pathogens that live and feed inside infected organisms
- diseases are spread either by person to person contact, contaminated water or food, or infected animals
- STD's dangerous pathogens spread by sexual contact
- antibiotics kill bacteria without harming the cells of humans or animals

40-2 The Immune System

- The body first line of defense is to keep pathogens out
- 4 components of the first line are: skin, mucus, sweat, tears
- second line of defense comes into play when pathogens enter the body
- inflammatory response
- fever

Specific defenses

- antigens trigger immune responses
- 2 types of immune responses are Humoral immunity and Cell-mediated immunity
