1. Describe the three functions of the Circulatory System.

A. Transport – Blood carries oxygen from the lungs to bodies tissues and picks up carbon dioxide and carries it back to the lungs to be removed from the body. Picks up nutrients from the digestive tract and delivers them to tissues. Carries metabolic waste to kidneys for removal. Carries hormones from endocrine cells to target organs. Transports stem cells from bone marrow to tissues to mature.
B. Protection – Plays several roles in inflammation. White blood cells destroy microorganisms and cancer cells and remove debris from tissues. Antibodies and other blood proteins neutralize toxins and help destroy pathogens. Platelets secrete factors that initiate blood clotting and minimize blood loss, contributing to tissue growth and blood vessel maintenance.
C. Regulation- Absorbing or releasing fluid during different conditions allows blood capillaries to stabilize fluid distribution in the body. By buffering acids and bases, blood proteins help to stabilize the pH of the extracellular fluids. Cutaneous blood flow helps dissipate metabolic heat from the body. Shifts in blood flow helps to regulate temperature.

2. Identify and describe the function of each of the formed elements in the table below.
