Literature, Pedagogy, and Curriculum in Secondary Education M. Martin Guiney, 2017-05-31 This book argues for the importance of literature studies using the historical debate between the disinterested disciplines art for art's sake and utilitarian or productive disciplines Forgoing the traditional argument that literature is a unique spiritual resource as well as the utilitarian thought that literary pedagogy promotes skills that are relevant to a post industrial economy Guiney suggests that literary pedagogy must enable mutual access between the classroom and the outside world It must recognize the need for every human being to become a conscious producer of culture rather than a consumer through an active process of literary reading and writing Using the history of French curricular reforms as a case study for his analysis Guiney provides a contextualized redefinition of literature's social value

Living National Treasure Thomas Keneally still divides critical opinion he is both a morally challenging stylist and a commercial hack a wise commentator on society and a garrulous leprechaun Such judgements are located in the cultural politics of Australia but also linked to ideas about what a literary career should look like Thomas Keneally's Career and the Literary Machine charts Keneally's production and reception across his three major markets noting clashes between national interests and international reach continuity of themes and variety of topics settings and genres the writer's interests and the publishers push to create a brand celebrity fame and literary reputation and the tussle around fiction history allegory and the middlebrow Keneally is seen as playing a long game across several events rather than honing one specialist skill a strategy that has sustained for more than 50 years his ambition to earn a living from writing
