Communicating Nature Communicating Nature:

Communicating Nature Julia B. Corbett, 2006-11-06 A broader and more comprehensive understanding of how we communicate with each other about the natural world and our relationship to it is essential to solving environmental problems How do individuals develop beliefs and ideologies about the environment How do we express those beliefs through communication How are we influenced by the messages of pop culture and social institutions And how does all this communication become part of the larger social fabric of what we know as the environment Communicating Nature explores and explains the multiple levels of everyday communication that come together to form our perceptions of the natural world Author Julia Corbett considers all levels of communication from communication at the individual level to environmental messages transmitted by popular culture to communication generated by social institutions including political and regulatory agencies business and corporations media outlets and educational organizations The book offers a fresh and engaging introductory look at a topic of broad interest and is an important work for students of the environment activists and environmental professionals interested in understanding the cultural context of human nature interactions

Communicating Nature Conservation Lawrence Jones-Walters, 2000      Communicating with Nature Michael J. Roads, 1985-01-01      Management Planning for Nature Conservation Mike Alexander, 2012-12-05 The first edition of Mike Alexander's Management Planning for Nature Conservation brought a new dimension to the modern literature on conservation management This second edition a significant enhancement of the original deals with the development both conceptual and practical of adaptive management planning for nature conservation It is about preparing management plans and guides the reader through the entire process Case studies including a conservation and access plan demonstrate the planning process in action This approach to planning can be applied to any place which is managed entirely or in part for wildlife It can be applied to the management of species or habitats in any circumstance regardless of site designation The process is fully compatible with the Convention on Biological Diversity's ecosystem approach to conservation management Mike Alexander has long been at the forefront of developing management planning for conservation with experience ranging from Uganda to Estonia and from Costa Rica to Wales He is the General Secretary of the Conservation Management System Consortium a group of organisations with a common aim of raising standards and developing best practice in conservation management and planning In 2012 Mike Alexander was elected a Fellow of the Society of Biology in recognition of his contribution to nature conservation and in particular management planning This book has drawn on the experiences and expertise of the CMS consortium and other leaders in both conservation research and wildlife management from around the world It is essential reading for professional conservation managers and any student studying management planning for conservation within a range of degree and postgraduate courses      Nature-Based Solutions for Flood Mitigation Carla S. S. Ferreira, Zahra Kalantari, Thomas Hartmann, Paulo Pereira, 2022-05-30 This book provides an overview of the typical nature based solutions NBS used for flood mitigation at different scales and in different areas e g from catchment to hillslope scale from urban to coastal areas NBS can provide several ecosystem services such as water regulation and water quality enhancement and as such offer relevant technical solutions to complement typical grey infrastructures to mitigate flood hazard and water quality problems In recent years political awareness and interest from the scientific community have led to increasing implementation of NBS worldwide In light of this trend this book provides valuable insights into the environmental aspects of NBS particularly their effectiveness for flood and pollution mitigation and discusses socio economic aspects related to the implementation of NBS including regulatory aspects cost and citizens perceptions of NBS Compiling the latest research the book furthers our understanding of the role of NBS for flood mitigation and its relation to environmental aspects to guide scientists and stakeholders in future NBS projects It is intended for the scientific community and stakeholders such as spatial planners and landscape managers Chapter Nature based solutions for flood mitigation and resilience in urban areas is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer.com

Making Sense of Nature Noel Castree, 2013-08-15 We listen to a cacophony of voices instructing us how to think and feel about nature including our own bodies The news media wildlife documentaries science magazines and environmental NGOs are among those clamouring for our attention But are we empowered by all this knowledge or is our dependence on various communities allowing our thoughts sentiments and activities to be unduly governed by others Making Sense of Nature shows that what we call nature is made sense of for us in ways that make it central to social order social change and social dissent

By utilising insights and extended examples from anthropology cultural studies human geography philosophy politics sociology science studies this interdisciplinary text asks whether we can better make sense of nature for ourselves and thus participate more meaningfully in momentous decisions about the future of life human and non human on the planet This book shows how nature can be made sense of without presuming its naturalness The challenge is not so much to rid ourselves of the idea of nature and its collateral concepts such as genes but instead we need to be more alert to how why and with what effects ideas about nature get fashioned and deployed in specific situations Among other things the book deals with science and scientists the mass media and journalists ecotourism literature and cinema environmentalists advertising and big business This innovative text contains numerous case studies and examples from daily life to put theory and subject matter into context as well as study tasks a glossary and suggested further reading The case studies cover a range of topics range from forestry in Canada and Guinea to bestiality in Washington State to how human genetics is reported in Western newspapers to participatory science experiments in the UK Making Sense of Nature will empower readers from a wide range of fields across the social sciences humanities and physical sciences      Reportatio I-A John Duns Scotus, Allan Bernard Wolter, O. V. Bychkov, 2004      The Nature of Science in Science Education W.F. McComas, 2006-04-11 The Nature of Science in Science Education is the first book to blend a justification for the inclusion of the history and philosophy of science in science teaching with methods by which this vital content can be shared with a variety of learners It contains a complete analysis of the variety of tools developed thus far to assess learning in this domain This book is relevant to science methods instructors science education graduate students and science teachers      Educational Foundations, 1904      *The Forces of Nature. results from the previous chapters and strengthen them The last part consists of a conclusion which will be a recap of the examined topic that is nature and religion in Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson Furthermore it will provide an outlook on further research opportunities and things that could not be addressed in this paper yet Overall this paper will argue that Emily Dickinson and Walt Whitman are both influenced by the American Romanticism and not only mirror that in their work but also exceed it It will also establish what their individual perception of nature and religion is     The Nature of Ideas Philosophical Union of the University of California,1926     Christian Philosophy Ephraim Langdon Frothingham,Arthur Lincoln Frothingham,1890     In a Club Corner Addison Peale Russell,1892     The New Astronomy and Laws of Nature, the Physical and Spiritual Universe Maria M.
