Meeting the Challenges to Measurement in an Era of Accountability Henry Braun,2016-01-29 Under pressure and support from the federal government states have increasingly turned to indicators based on student test scores to evaluate teachers and schools as well as students themselves The focus thus far has been on test scores in those subject areas where there is a sequence of consecutive tests such as in mathematics or English language arts with a focus on grades 4 8 Teachers in these subject areas however constitute less than thirty percent of the teacher workforce in a district Comparatively little has been written about the measurement of achievement in the other grades and subjects This volume seeks to remedy this imbalance by focusing on the assessment of student achievement in a broad range of grade levels and subject areas with particular attention to their use in the evaluation of teachers and schools in all It addresses traditional end of course tests as well as alternative measures such as portfolios exhibitions and student learning objectives In each case issues related to design and development psychometric considerations and validity challenges are covered from both a generic and a content specific perspective The NCME Applications of Educational Measurement and Assessment series includes edited volumes designed to inform research based applications of educational measurement and assessment Edited by leading experts these books are comprehensive and practical resources on the latest developments in the field The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4 0 license

Five Levers to Improve Learning Tony Frontier,James Rickabaugh,2014-01-08 Why have decades of school reform had so little measurable effect on student achievement Why have billions of dollars spent on technology small school initiatives and school choice options failed to improve our schools Too often educators are simply pulling the wrong levers say Tony Frontier and James Rickabaugh They explain that the various components of schooling fall into five categories structure sample standards strategy and self Understanding how these five levers work and their relative power can help unlock the potential for lasting improvements in teaching and learning The authors show readers that changes to structure and sample how schools are organized and how students are grouped will not be effective without changes to standards expectations for student learning strategy instructional strategies to engage students in meaningful learning and self the set of beliefs teachers and students have about their capacity to be effective At the heart of this book is a simple message for teachers administrators board members and education policymakers at all levels the key to success is not doing more work and making more changes but doing the right work and making the right changes     Resources in Education ,1998     Science Benchmarking Report ,2001     Comprehensive Medicinal Chemistry II, Volume 4 John Bodenhan Taylor,D.
