Statement, 2012 Whitewashed Critical Perspectives Catherine Compton-Lilly, Tisha Lewis Ellison, Kristen Perry, Peter Smagorinsky, 2021-06-30 This volume examines revolutionary constructs in literacy education and demonstrates how they have been gentrified, whitewashed and appropriated, losing their revolutionary edge so as to become palatable for the mainstream. Written by top scholars in literacy education, chapters cover key concepts that were originally conceived as radical theories to upset the status quo, including Third Space Funds of Knowledge, Culturally Relevant Pedagogies and more. Each chapter addresses how the core theory was culturally appropriated and defanged to support rather than take down racial and societal hierarchies. Critiquing the harmful impact of watering down these theories, the contributors offer ways to restore the edge to these once groundbreaking ideas, reject racist and assimilationist trends and support the original vision behind these liberatory theories. In so doing, this volume adopts a truly radical critical stance that is essential for researchers, scholars and students in literacy education.

Argument and Common Ground Jillian Clark,2014 This thesis examines the recent history of the teaching of argument and its implications in the face of new writing standards being implemented in K 12 classrooms under the Common Core State Standards The new educational policies will shift the focus of writing instruction onto argument writing as part of students college readiness In a survey and analysis of the argument scholarship in the National Council of Teachers of English s NCTE premier journals on the teaching of writing College English and College Composition and Communication I demonstrate the clear trend in college argument scholarship away from initially hostile two sided debates Scholarship in these journals instead advocates for process oriented argument pedagogies that account for multiple voices working towards arguments of cooperation and skills that can be transferred out of the classroom and into real world problem solving scenarios Through close readings of the Common Core State Standards for Writing in Grades 11 12 and the NCTE s college readiness document the Framework for Success in Postsecondary Writing I argue that teachers of argument can honor the commitment to cooperation present in argument scholarship while meeting the state standards by using the Framework as a guide to pedagogy which is not dictated by the standards This thesis challenges the assumptions of opposition between policy and pedagogy in the teaching of argument by seeking their common ground Oh, Yeah?! Michael William Smith, Jeffrey D. Wilhelm, James E. Fredricksen, 2012 Because everything is an argument In this book we ll argue that you can teach the writing of argument so that students will not only exceed the Common Core State Standards but also be prepared for a future as students and citizens Michael Smith, Jeffrey Wilhelm and James Fredricksen The Common Core State Standards are an argument that students ability to write sound arguments on substantive topics and issues is critical to college and career readiness This book is an argument Oh Yeah will persuade you that it is an ideal resource for helping you teach argument writing to adolescents And not just any arguments but the kinds of substantive ones the real world demands We believe write Michael Smith, Jeffrey Wilhelm and James Fredricksen that instruction directed to improve student performance on standards based assessments MUST be the most powerful and engaging instruction we can possibly offer To that end they fill Oh Yeah with proven lessons for writing reading and discussing arguments that you can use right now In addition they provide ideas for how to create instructional contexts that maximize the power of those lessons through a compelling framework that will help you create your own lessons and units in the future Life may be a series of arguments but your decision about how to teach argument writing needn t be complicated Trust Smith, Wilhelm and Fredricksen use Oh Yeah in your classroom and give students an argument for meeting and exceeding the Common Core standards

Originally developed for EngageNY and written with a focus on the shifts in instructional practice and student experiences the standards require. Paths to College and Career includes daily lesson plans guiding questions recommended texts scaffolding strategies and other classroom resources. The Paths Writing Units Argument Writing, Informative Writing and Narrative Writing complement the full instructional program and can also be used independently providing in-depth writing instruction to support all students in grades 9-12 in meeting grade level standards. To emphasize the relationship between reading and writing each Writing Unit includes accessible model texts that exemplify key elements of each text type and source texts that provide a topic for the unit writing assignment. Individual lessons guide students through the writing process providing instruction on grammar and conventions and highlighting collaboration and reflection as key elements of effective writing. Students' final essays are assessed using a checklist developed by the class over the course of the unit. The organization and distinctive content of the model and source texts in each unit afford teachers the flexibility to implement each unit independently of the others and at any point during the curriculum. For example a unit may be implemented to assess students' writing prior to implementation of the standard curriculum to scaffold writing instruction leading into a writing assessment or to support struggling writers by addressing gaps in skills as demonstrated in previous assessments. The Paths Writing Units provide teachers with invaluable opportunities to engage students as active participants in their own learning at every stage of the writing process and to customize instruction to meet the varying needs of all students. ABOUT PUBLIC CONSULTING GROUP Public Consulting Group works with schools, districts and state education agencies to build their capacity for instructional and programmatic improvements.
