Cartographic Encounters G. Malcolm Lewis, 1998-09-15 Ever since a native American prepared a paper chart of the lower Colorado River for the Spaniard Hernando de Alarcon in 1540 native Americans have been making maps in the course of encounters with whites the most recent maps often support land claims This book charts the history of these cartographic encounters examining native maps and mapmaking from the earliest contacts onward Cartographic Encounters John Rennie Short, 2009-07-15 There s no excuse for getting lost these days satellite maps on our computers can chart our journey in detail and electronics on our car dashboards instruct us which way to turn But there was a time when the varied landscape of North America was largely Mapping Asia: Cartographic Encounters Between East and West Martijn Storms, Mario Cams, Imre Josef Demhardt, Ferjan Ormeling, 2018-06-27 This proceedings book presents the first ever cross disciplinary analysis of 16th 20th century South East and Southeast Asian cartography The central theme of the conference was the mutual influence of Western and Asian cartographic traditions and the focus was on points of contact between Western and Asian cartographic history Geographically the topics were limited to South Asia East Asia and Southeast Asia with special attention to India China Japan Korea and Indonesia Topics addressed included Asia s place in the world the Dutch East India Company toponymy Philipp Franz von Siebold maritime cartography missionary mapping and cadastral mapping

Cartographic Encounters, 2009 Cartographic Encounters Mark Warhus, 1993 Enduring Encounters: Maps of Japan from Leiden University Library, 2024-11-18 While Asian and Western cartographies are often considered separate traditions maps of Japan kept in Leiden University Libraries often show a commonality of method and purpose Despite the expulsion of Phillip Franz von Siebold from Japan in 1829 the norm was for friendly exchanges of scientific knowledge One of the highlights of this volume are annotated drafts and proofs of Siebold s map of Japan published and discussed for the first time alongside Japanese source maps Five essays by worldwide experts in the history of cartography and of Dutch Japanese relations accompany extensive catalogue entries for over fifty maps Contributors are Aoyama Hiro o Edward Boyle Radu Leca Martijn Storms and Uesugi Kazuhiro Encounters in the New World Mirela Altic, 2022-07-08 Analyzing more than 150 historical maps this book traces the Jesuits significant contributions to mapping and mapmaking from their arrival in the New World In 1540 in the wake of the tumult brought on by the Protestant Reformation Saint Ignatius of Loyola founded the Society of Jesus also known as the Jesuits The Society s goal was to revitalize the faith of Catholics and to evangelize to non Catholics through charity education and missionary work By the end of the century Jesuit missionaries were sent all over the world including to South America In addition to performing missionary and humanitarian work Jesuits also served as cartographers and explorers under the auspices of the Spanish Portuguese and French crowns as they ventured into remote areas to find and evangelize to native populations In Encounters in the New World Mirela Altic analyzes more than 150 of their maps most of which have never previously been published She traces the Jesuit contribution to mapping and mapmaking from their arrival in the New World into the post suppression period placing it in the context of their worldwide undertakings in the fields of science and art Altic s analysis also shows the incorporation of indigenous knowledge into the Jesuit maps effectively making them an expression of cross cultural communication even as they were tools of colonial expansion This ambiguity she reveals reflects the complex relationship between missions knowledge and empire Far more than just a physical survey of unknown space Jesuit mapping of the New World was in fact the most important link to enable an exchange of ideas and cultural concepts between the Old World and the New The Imperial Map James R. Akerman,2009-03 Maps from virtually every culture and period convey our tendency to see our communities as the centre of the world if not the universe and by implication as superior to anything beyond our boundaries This study examines how cartography has been used to prop up a variety of imperialist enterprises Liberty's Grid Amir Alexander,2024-05-29 From the halls of Congress to the open prairies and from the fight against George III to the Trail of Tears Liberty s Grid tells the story of the continuing battle between grid makers and their opponents On the one side are the rectilinear streets of Manhattan and the squared corn fields of Kansas on the other the curvy paths of Central Park and the cliffs of Yosemite Valley To grid creators America appears a land of limitless freedom to those beholden to the rhythms of nature and history the naturalistic is an escape from moral collapse Their conflict Alexander shows is written on our landscape Human Geography John R. Short,2018 Revised and updated throughout Human Geography A Short Introduction Second Edition is an ideal choice for professors who prefer the flexibility of a succinct and incisive text without compromising on scholarly excellence The book provides all the basics that students need while simultaneously empowering professors to customize their courses Supported by strong graphics Human Geography A Short Introduction Second Edition presents unparalleled flexibility and value From publisher s description How the West was Won Amanda Anne Brownridge,2015 Originally valued as neutral scientific documents maps have traditionally been studied for the insight they could provide on the definition and transformation of national borders over time In recent scholarship maps have come to be understood as constructions This is especially true of cartographic documents of the New World through which European colonial empires were attempting to understand classify and ultimately dominate a continent previously unknown to them Although representative of a colonial perspective of the New World maps also contain evidence of the encounter between Native Peoples and Europeans These maps can be considered in terms of what Mary Louise Pratt calls contact zones As such maps remain important sources to analyze Exploring the Beaver Maps as a case study this thesis looks at the ways in which postcolonial theory and decolonizing methodologies can be used to deconstruct cartographic documents of New France Using an approach called cartographic contextualization this paper aims to reconstruct an image of the New World during the early years of contact to include multiple narratives By deconstructing the beaver cartouche and the stories that informed the animated behaviours of the beavers represented in the image we may perceive traces of the oral histories and worldviews of the Mi kmaq Nation Incorporation of these narratives underscores the encounter between the French and the Mi kmaq in Acadia highlighting the active roles played by Native American Nations in the discovery exploration and settlement of New France as well as the fur trade and transatlantic trade Dictionary of American History: Archival maps and primary sources Stanley I.
