Recommendations for Screening Frequency

Baseline two-step TST or one BMT <sup>3</sup>	Yes, for all HCWs upon hire	Yes, for all HCWs upon hire	Yes, for all HCWs upon hire
Serial TST or BMT screening of HCWs	No <sup>4</sup>	At least every 12 months <sup>11</sup>	As needed in the investigation of potential ongoing transmission <sup>12</sup>
TST or BMT for HCWs upon unprotected exposure to M. tuberculosis	Perform a contact investigation (i.e., administer one TST or BMT as soon as possible at the time of exposure, and, if the result is negative, give a second test [TST or BMT, whichever was used for the first test] 8–10 weeks after the end of exposure to M. tuberculosis ) <sup>13</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The term Health-care workers (HCWs) refers to all paid and unpaid persons working in health-care settings who have the potential for exposure to M. tuberculosis through air space shared with persons with TB disease.

<sup>2</sup> Settings that serve communities with a high incidence of TB disease or that treat populations at high risk (e.g., those with human immunodeficiency virus infection or other immunocompromising conditions) or that treat patients with drug-resistant TB disease might need to be classified as medium risk, even if they meet the low-risk criteria.

<sup>3</sup> A classification of potential ongoing transmission should be applied to a specific group of HCWs or to a specific area of the health-care setting in which evidence of ongoing transmission is apparent, if such a group or area can be identified. Otherwise, a classification of potential ongoing transmission should be applied to the entire setting. This classification should be temporary and warrants immediate investigation and corrective steps after a determination has been made that ongoing transmission has ceased. The setting should be reclassified as medium risk, and the recommended timeframe for this medium risk classification is at least 1 year.

<sup>4</sup> All HCWs upon hire should have a documented baseline two-step tuberculin skin test (TST) or one blood assay for M. tuberculosis (BMT) result at each new health-care setting, even if the setting is determined to be low risk. In certain settings, a choice might be made to not perform baseline TB screening or serial TB screening for HCWs who 1) will never be in contact with or have shared air space with patients who have TB disease (e.g., telephone operators who work in a separate building from patients) or 2) will never be in contact with clinical specimens that might contain M. tuberculosis. Establishment of a reliable baseline result can be beneficial if subsequent screening is needed after an unexpected exposure to M. tuberculosis.

<sup>5</sup> HCWs in settings classified as low risk do not need to be included in the serial TB screening program.

<sup>11</sup> The frequency of screening for infection with M. tuberculosis will be determined by the risk assessment for the setting and determined by the Infection Control team.

<sup>12</sup> During an investigation of potential ongoing transmission of M. tuberculosis, testing for M. tuberculosis infection should be performed every 8–10 weeks until a determination has been made that ongoing transmission has ceased. Then the setting should be reclassified as medium risk for at least 1 year.

<sup>13</sup> Procedures for contact investigations should not be confused with two-step TSTs, which are used for baseline TST results for newly hired HCWs.
