

Corporate Accounting Notes

Company: A company, abbreviated as co., is a legal entity representing an association of people, whether natural, legal or a mixture of both, with a specific objective. Company members share a common purpose and unite to achieve specific, declared goals.

Accounting: The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) defines accounting as: "the art of recording, classifying, and summarizing in a significant manner and in terms of money, transactions and events which are, in part at least of financial character, and interpreting the results thereof."

Corporate Accounting: Corporate accounting deals with processes such as the preparation of cash flow statements, financial records, balance sheets and more. It can be used to handle unique corporate business processes such as absorption, amalgamation and the creation of consolidated documents.

Share: A share is the interest of a member in a company. Section 2(84) of the Companies Act, 2013 (hereinafter referred to as Act) "share" means a share in the share capital of a company and includes stock. It represents the interest of a shareholder in the company, measured for the purposes of liability and dividend.

Equity Shares:

Equity shares are long-term financing sources for any company. These shares are issued to the general public and are non-redeemable in nature. Investors in such shares hold the right to vote, share profits and claim assets of a company

Types of Equity Shares: There are following types of Equity shares:

- Bonus shares

As the name might suggest, bonus shares are those stocks that companies issue to the existing shareholders sans any additional charge. Through the issuance of bonus shares, companies can convert their retained earnings into stocks. Usually, companies provide these bonus shares to shareholders instead of paying out dividends.

Furthermore, organisations issue bonus shares on a pro-rata basis. So, if Mr. Amit holds 200 shares of Hindustan Unilever Ltd and the company announces its decision to issue 1:4 as a bonus, then he will receive 50 additional shares for free.

- Right shares

Right shares refer to the offerings that a company makes to its existing shareholders to purchase new shares at a specific price within a particular period. In other words, the right shares are those new stocks on which existing stakeholders can lay claim before such issuing company opens them up to public trading.
