Genre, Gender and the Effects of Neoliberalism Betty Kaklamanidou,2013 The romantic comedy has long been regarded as an inferior film genre by critics and scholars alike accused of maintaining a strict narrative formula which is considered superficial and highly predictable However the genre has resisted the negative scholarly and critical comments and for the last three decades the steady increase in the numbers of romantic comedies position the genre among the most popular ones in the globally dominant Hollywood film industry The enduring power of the new millennium romantic comedy proves that therein lies something deeper and worth investigating This new work draws together a discussion of the full range of romantic comedies in the new millennium exploring the cycles of films that tackle areas including teen romance the new career woman women as action heroes motherhood and pregnancy and the mature millennium woman The work evaluates the structure of these different types of films and examines in detail the ways in which they choose to frame key contemporary issues which influence how we analyse global politics including gender class race and society Providing a rich understanding of the complexities and potential of the genre for understanding contemporary society this work will be of interest to students and scholars of cultural film studies gender politics and world politics in general

Mademoiselle, 2000 Race, Class, and Gender in a Diverse Society Diana Elizabeth Kendall, 1997 Seeks to demonstrate the interconnectedness of race class and gender at the micro and macro levels of society This study presents articles which aim to reflect the diversity of life in the US and to show how people are affected by the interlocking nature of race class and Unzipping Gender Charlotte Suthrell,2004-04 How does culture shape notions of sexuality and gender Why are transvestites in the West so often seen as deviant or perverse while they are accepted in other societies What are the implications for the categories of male and female when considering transvestism Transvestism and its cultural practice is a useful lens through which we can view and thus debate models of sex gender and sexuality Drawing on primary fieldwork Unzipping Gender offers a cross cultural study of transvestism through an examination of transvestites in Britain and the Hijras of India The author tackles the critical question of whether or not transvestism is motivated primarily by sex or gender and she challenges the straightforward binary divide that dominates Western theories of gender Taking into account the importance of material culture she also pays close attention to the detail of dress and considers the artefactual nature of the construction of the self through clothing Highlighting the differences between the two groups and drawing on further cross cultural perspectives Suthrell illustrates the social construction of sex and gender She considers the roles that emotion mythology imagery and belief systems play in influencing ideas about sex and gender in different cultures Since sex and gender must inevitably be intertwined Suthrell argues for a more sophisticated response to the complex practice of transvestism In order to gain a deeper understanding of sex and gender issues it is imperative to examine the underlying social and symbolic structures This unique study across cultures leads the way Personal Growth and Behaviour
