Read the Cat comprehension passage.

Cats are one of the most popular pets in the world. They are known for being independent, curious, and playful. There are many different breeds of cats, each with unique characteristics and personalities. Some cats have long, fluffy fur, while others have short, smooth coats. Cats are often called "children in fur" because they are so playful and full of energy. They are also known for their climbing and scratching skills. Cats are natural hunters and often chase after mice, birds, and other small animals. They are also known for their agility and grace. Cats are also known for their independent nature, as they do not need to be a certain breed, but they do have an energetic, curious, and playful personality. Cats communicate using a variety of sounds, including meows, purrs, and hisses. A cat's purr is often interpreted as a sign of contentment and relaxation. Cats are also known for their fluffy fur and their love of sleeping. They are often found curled up in a ball, sleeping soundly. Cats are also known for their agility and grace, as they can jump high and land on their feet. On the Success of Failure Karl L. Alexander,Doris R. Entwistle,Susan L. Dauber,2003 This book is about the practice of grade retention in elementary school a particularly vexing problem in urban school systems where upward of half the students may repeat a grade On the Success of Failure addresses whether repeating a grade is helpful or harmful when children are not keeping up It describes the school context of retention and evaluates its consequences by tracking the experiences of a large representative sample of Baltimore school children from first grade through high school In addition to evaluating the consequences of retention the book describes the cohort's dispersion along many different educational pathways from first grade through middle school the articulation of retention with other forms of educational tracking like reading group placements in the early primary grades and course level assignments in middle school and repeaters academic and school adjustment problems before they were held back

Clinical Diagnosis of Mental Disorders Benjamin Wolman,2012-12-06 For centuries the treatment of mentally disturbed individuals was quite simple They were accused of collusion with evil spirits hunted and persecuted The last witch was killed as late as 1782 in Switzerland Mentally disturbed people did not fare much better even when the witchhunting days were gone John Christian Reil gave the following description of mental patients at the crossroads of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries We incarcerate these miserable creatures as if they were criminals in abandoned jails near to the lairs of owls in barren canyons beyond the city gates or in damp dungeons of prisons where never a pitying look of a humanitarian penetrates and we let them in chains rot in their own excrement Their fetters have eaten off the flesh of their bones and their emaciated pale faces look expectantly toward the graves which will end their misery and cover up our shamefulness 1803 The great reforms introduced by Philippe Pinel at Bicêtre in 1793 augured the beginning of a new approach Pinel ascribed the sick role and called for compassion and help One does not need to know much about those he wants to hurt but one must know a lot in order to help Pinel's reform was followed by a rapid development in research of causes symptoms and remedies of mental disorders There are two main prerequisites for planning a treatment strategy
