Academics and policy makers will learn from the various legal and political efforts to integrate supranational and inter governmental agencies with national political systems Democratisation of Myanmar Nehginpao Kipgen, 2021-09-30 On February 1 2021 Myanmar's military coup abruptly ended a decade of a civilian military hybrid regime a massive setback for the democratisation process Citizens from all walks of life took to the streets and protests erupted over the following weeks and Myanmar became the centre of global attention This book brings up to date how the story of Myanmar's experiment with democracy unravelled over the last few years This second edition Traces the political transition of Myanmar from a military rule of nearly five decades to a short lived democratic experiment Outlines the factors that contributed to this transition and the circumstances in which it took place Shows how political groups especially Aung San Suu Kyi's National League for Democracy NLD and the military worked together and paved the way for democratisation and what led to the failure of the NLD government Examines the 2020 general election and the declaration of national emergency following the NLD landslide electoral win Bringing together a balance of primary ethnographic fieldwork and nuanced analysis this book will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of Asian and Southeast Asian Studies politics and political processes democratisation process and democratic transitions international relations and peace and conflict studies especially those concerned with Myanmar Power in Action Steven Friedman, 2019-03-01 Argues that South Africans like everyone else need democracy for a more equal society What are democracies meant to do And how does one know when one is a democratic state These incisive questions and more by leading political scientist Steven Friedman underlie this robust enquiry into what democracy means for South Africa post 1994 Democracy is often viewed through a lens reflecting Western understanding New democracies are compared to idealized notions by which the system is said to operate in the global North The democracies of Western Europe and North America are understood to be the finished product and all others are assessed by how far they have progressed towards approximating this model Power in Action persuasively argues against this stereotype Friedman asserts that democracies can only work when every adult has an equal say in the public decisions that affect them Democracy is achieved not by adopting idealized models derived from other societies rather it is the product of collective action by citizens who claim the right to be heard not only through public protest action but also through the conscious exercise of influence on public and private power holders Viewing democracy in this way challenges us to develop a deeper understanding of democracy's challenges and in so doing to ensure that more citizens can claim a say over more decisions in society

Democratization in Southeastern Europe Nikiforos P. Diamandouros, F. Stephen Larrabee, 1999

Fault Lines of Democracy in Post-transition Latin America Felipe Agüero, Jeffrey Stark, 1998

Concerns about democratization in Latin America today center not on the threat of authoritarian regression but on the depth, quality, fairness, and completeness of democratization thus far. Large-scale economic and social reforms, stronger and more complex civil societies, and processes of integration and globalization call for new approaches in order to understand the unfolding of democracy in the region. In this context, the contributors to this volume explore the often disjunctive aspects of Latin American democracy, providing a nuanced understanding of contemporary democratic governance.

Transitions to Democracy Geoffrey Pridham, 1995

The phenomenon of transitions to liberal democracy has become a major concern for political scientists in recent decades. This text covers conceptual issues for regime change, theoretical and comparative interpretations of transition, and authoritarian collapse. National case studies of transition are divided into three areas: studies of the international context of transition, the move towards democratic consolidation, and the future of democratic transition studies.
