Democracy And Development In Mali:

Democracy and Development in Mali R. James Bingen, David Robinson, John M. Staatz, 2000 Mali a country rich with history and culture but one of the poorest in the world emerged in the 1990s as one of Africa's most vibrant democracies. Strengthened by bold political and economic reforms at home Mali has emerged as a leader in African peace keeping efforts. How has such a transition taken place? How have these changes built on Mali's rich heritage? These are the questions that the contributors to this volume have addressed. During the past twenty five years the scholarly research and applied development work of Michigan State University faculty and students in Mali represents the most significant combined long term and continuing contribution of any group of university faculty in the United States or Europe to the study of Malian society, economy and politics. The applied nature of much of this work has resulted in a significant number of working papers, reports and conference presentations. This volume represents a coherent and connected set of essays from one American university with a widely known and highly respected role in African development. While the essays identify and review Mali's unique historical and contemporary path to democracy and development they also contribute to the advancement of theoretical knowledge about African development.

Livelihoods and Institutional Development in the Malian Sahel Charles E.

Benjamin, 2004 The African Union's Africa Rita Kiki Edozie, Keith Gottschalk, 2014-11-01 The African Union's Africa: New Pan African Initiatives in Global Governance examines the initiatives of the Pan African global governance institution the African Union AU as the organization and its precursor commemorate their Jubilee as international actors. Taking a unique approach the book seeks to explain the AU through a theoretical framework referred to as the African Union phenomenon capturing the international organization's efforts to transform the national politics of Africa as well as to globalize the practice of African politics. The authors examine Africa's self determined international norms and values such as Pan Africanism, African Solutions to African Problems, Hybrid Democracy, Pax Africana and the African Economic Community to demonstrate that Africa the world's least developed region is composed of crucial values, institutions, agents, actors and forces that are through the AU contributing to the advancement of contemporary global development. The book reveals how in the areas of cultural identity, democracy, security and economic development Africans are infusing new politics, economics and cultures into globalization representing the collective will and imprint of African agency decisions, ideas, identities, practices and contexts. Via a Pan African vision the AU is having both regional and global impact generating exciting possibilities and complicated challenges.

Sahel Marcel Kitissou, 2014-04-28 The Sahel is a critical zone of convergence. Geographically it links two oceans and three seas. Itself a semi arid corridor it functions as a giant dry river that traverses the central north of Africa from coast to coast demarcating the transition between the Sahara desert and the savannah. Across the land and the water came traders and adventurers seeking goods and power bringing ideas, opportunities and challenges sometimes as with slavery inflicting heavy damage upon flourishing institutions. Always rich in human diversity bringing into contact North Africans and sub Saharan Africans West Africans and East Africans long before others came from outside the continent in the Sahel cultures mixed not always comfortably And so they continue to mix even now Indigenous religions met Islam imported from the Arabian Peninsula and Christianity from the Middle East by way of Europe Often violent encounters across the Sahara between the largely animist indigenous Africans and MuslimArabs from North Africa the Mediterranean and the Arabian Peninsula significantly shaped and still animate the socio political landscape of the region The Sahel has been the focus of dreams of wealth and power for centuries during which the objective of overthrowing existing forms of governance to usher out the invader or colonizer and usher in a new order that is solicitous of the welfare of the people has served as the motive for many revolutions and rebellions and is the case of many Sahel countries today Against a background of seemingly unending encounters from the Fossatum Africae the African Trench in time of the Roman Emperor Hadrian to today s Mali with powerful global currents which have often convulsed and created unwelcome dislocations in their society the people of the Sahara Sahel have found ways to adapt and cohere their indigenous systems to the new This volume s contributors illuminate the past with conscientious scholarship while bringing the reader s pinpoint focus clearly into the present Their work seeks new solutions to ongoing Sahelian problems that neither neglect the past nor are strictly limited to Sahelian applications The chapters balance fear against hope Fear that defenses against the ravages of climate change will be too little and too late fear that help offered to former colonies will lead only to re colonization fear of lawlessness and exploitation by international criminal elements fear of religious strife of heretofore unknown intensity on the African continent And hope Hope that African governments will work in unity to solve shared problems hope that past indigenous methods of conflict resolution and agriculture for example can be brought to bear on present problems hope that international cooperation with former colonizers and current investors can be achieved without domination and rebuild as in the best of the past a tolerant and flourishing society
