Our Debt to Great Britain (Classic Reprint) Paul Revere Frothingham, 2015-07-08 Excerpt from Our Debt to Great Britain When the great Apostle confessed himself a debtor both to the Greeks and to the barbarians both to the wise and to the unwise we may be sure that he had not reached such a conclusion without a struggle There were many deeply seated and inherited prejudices that had to be overcome It is equally certain too that his acknowledgment of international indebtedness was not acceptable to the rank and file of his fellow citizens The ancient Jews were a very proud and independent people Their mission in the world as they conceived it was to teach not learn to impart and not receive They belonged to what they called the Chosen Race In their opinion they had been selected by their God to enlighten and redeem the world They spoke of the land they lived in as the Land of Promise which was another way of saying that it was God's own country Now the great Apostle inherited these opinions They had been taught him in the schools He had boasted of them in his youth But with growing years he had a widening experience He traveled He saw something of other civilizations He learned the beauty that was Greece he perceived the grandeur that belonged to Rome About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
