Contributor: Axel Schubert

Making music in class with Orff instruments is an important experience for children that can promote and enhance the joy of singing and music making. It is carefully organized and led by the teacher.

To ensure a structured setup of instruments and a well-organized lesson of practice and music-making (after also making sure that the effective learning time is as high as possible for all learners, you need rules, a clear concept and media to make successful learning possible.

In this article you will find general information and two alternative music scores for beginners and advanced learners which includes a song sheet, a full score and a short music for each instrument.

There is also a simplified graphic notation of music which can be used for children without musical knowledge. In order to get an idea of the song there is also an audio file, which can be played in class beforehand.
