Handbook of Research Methods in Human Memory Hajime Otani, Bennett L. Schwartz, 2018-10-09 The Handbook of Research Methods in Human Memory presents a collection of chapters on methodology used by researchers in investigating human memory Understanding the basic cognitive function of human memory is critical in a wide variety of fields such as clinical psychology developmental psychology education neuroscience and gerontology and studying memory has become particularly urgent in recent years due to the prominence of a number of neurodegenerative diseases such as Alzheimer's. However, choosing the most appropriate method of research is a daunting task for most scholars. This book explores the methods that are currently available in various areas of human memory research and serves as a reference manual to help guide readers' own research. Each chapter is written by prominent researchers and features cutting edge research on human memory and cognition with topics ranging from basic memory processes to cognitive neuroscience to further applications. The focus here is not on the what but the how: how research is best conducted on human memory.

Handbook of Autobiography / Autofiction Martina Wagner-Egelhaaf, 2019-01-29. Autobiographical writings have been a major cultural genre from antiquity to the present time. General questions of the literary as e.g. the relation between literature and reality, truth and fiction, the dependency of author, narrator and figure or issues of individual and cultural styles etc. can be studied preeminently in the autobiographical genre. Yet the tradition of life writing has in the course of literary history developed manifold types and forms. Especially in the globalized age where the media and other technological cultural factors contribute to a rapid transformation of lifestyles, autobiographical writing has maintained even enhanced its popularity and importance. By conceiving autobiography in a wide sense that includes memoirs, diaries, self-portraits and autofiction as well as media transformations of the genre, this three-volume handbook offers a comprehensive survey of theoretical approaches, systematic aspects and historical developments in an international and interdisciplinary perspective. While autobiography is usually considered to be a European tradition, special emphasis is placed on the modes of self-representation in non-Western cultures and on inter- and transcultural perspectives of the genre. The individual contributions are closely interconnected by a system of cross-references. The handbook addresses scholars of cultural and literary studies, students as well as non-academic readers.

Neuropsychological Perspectives on Affective and Anxiety Disorders Richard J. Davidson, 1998. This volume features exemplars of the best research at many levels from animal studies of the detailed circuitry subserving fear and anxiety to human studies of cognitive abnormalities in subjects with affective and anxiety disorders.

Memory Alan Baddeley, Michael W. Eysenck, Michael C. Anderson, 2025-05-13. This key textbook now in its fourth edition provides students with the most comprehensive introduction to the study of human memory and its applications in the field. Written by three leading experts, it delivers an authoritative and accessible overview of key topic areas. Each chapter combines breadth of content coverage with a wealth of relevant practical examples while the engaging writing style invites the reader to share the authors' fascination with the exploration of memory through their individual areas of expertise. Across the text, the scientific theory is connected to a range of real-world questions and everyday human experiences. This new edition has been fully revised and updated to address the latest research theories and applications, including a new second chapter that acts as a one-stop overview of the full range of neuroscience methods for studying memory. Includes new or expanded coverage of collective memory, spatial memory, explicit and implicit memory, episodic and autobiographical memory, and the functional role of memory in more complex tasks It also features a greater emphasis on memory in the real world practical applications and the impact of memory research on everyday life Has been updated for more inclusive language and representation of people and research across race ethnicity sexuality gender identity and neurodiversity This edition of Memory is an essential resource for those embarking on their studies in this important field or with an interest in the topic Chapter 7 Mental Imagery in Psychopathology Dorte Berntsen,2015 Autobiographical memory plays a key role in psychological well being and the field has been investigated from multiple perspectives for over thirty years One large body of research has examined the basic mechanisms and characteristics of autobiographical memory during general cognition and another body has studied what happens to it during psychological disorders and how psychological therapies targeting memory disturbances can improve psychological well being This edited collection reviews and integrates current theories on autobiographical memory when viewed in a clinical perspective It presents an overview of basic applied and clinical approaches to autobiographical memory covering memory specificity traumatic memories involuntary and intrusive memories and the role of self identity The book discusses a wide range of psychological disorders including depression PTSD borderline personality disorder and autism and how they affect autobiographical memory It will be of interest to students of psychology clinicians and therapists alike

Story in Children's Lives: Contributions of the Narrative Mode to Early Childhood Development, Literacy, and Learning Kelli Jo Kerry-Moran, Juli-Anna Aerila, 2019-09-27 This book is based on the power of stories to support children in all areas of their lives It examines the role narratives can play in encouraging growth in contexts and domains such as personal and family identity creative movement memory and self concept social relationships or developing a sense of humor Each chapter describes innovative and research based applications of narratives such as movement stories visual narratives to develop historical thinking multimodal storytelling bibliotherapy mathematics stories family stories and social narratives The chapters elaborate on the strength of narratives in supporting the whole child in diverse contexts from young children on the autism spectrum improving their social skills at school to four and five year olds developing historical thinking to children who are refugees or asylum seekers dealing with uncertainty and loss Written by accomplished teachers researchers specialists teaching artists and teacher educators from several countries and backgrounds the book fills a gap in the literature on narratives this work delves into the topic of narratives in young children s lives with a breadth of topics and depth of study not found elsewhere Collectively the insights of the contributors build a convincing case for emphasizing story across the various disciplines and developmental domains of the early childhood years The writing style is scholarly yet accessible Authors used a wide array of visual material to make their points clearer and show the reader what meaningful uses of story look like Mary Renck Jalongo Journal and Book Series Editor Springer Indiana PA USA Autobiographical Memory and the Self Soljana Cili, Lusiana Stopa, 2018-07-17 Autobiographical memory shapes our understanding of ourselves guides our behaviour and helps us to develop and maintain relationships with others The ways in which we interpret and
