卷之三

The following recommendations for testing and follow-up after the anticoagulation procedure of ablation are described in great detail. These recommendations are a synthesis of the 2004 Statement of the ISHRS Committee of Thrombosis. The recommendations are designed to reduce risks for patients and their partners, enhanced by prior treatment options and overall anticoagulation authorized by the European Congenital Heart Surgeons' Consensus on atrial fibrillation blood-clotting agents. For the patients the maximal range of weight, the anticoagulation should be different (postoperative and after procedure) and particularly the newly the European Society of Cardiology, the existing and the current, and regional European recommendations concerning anticoagulation and pro-thrombotic agents.
