Visioning Technologies Graham Cairns,2016-12-08 Visioning Technologies brings together a collection of texts from leading theorists to examine how architecture has been and is reframed and restructured by the visual and theoretical frameworks introduced by different technologies of sight understood to include orthographic projection perspective drawing telescopic devices photography film and computer visualization amongst others Each chapter deals with its own area and historical period of expertise organized sequentially to mark out and analyse the historical evolution of how architecture has been transformed by technologically induced shifts in human perception from the 15th century until today This book underlines the way in which architectural forms and design processes have developed historically in conjunction with the systems of sight we manufacture technologically and suggests this continues today Paradoxically it is premised on the argument that these technological systems tend in their initial formulations to obtain ever greater realism in our visualizations of the physical world    The Children's Folklore Review ,2012    Keio Communication Review ,2010

obscure as only recent Bills tabled in Parliament try and address the issue in depth In light of the findings of this research it was established that the problem is not so heavy on laws and regulation on taxation of goods sold electronically but rather implementation of the applicable laws where they exist The paper finally recommends possible amendments to the Kenyan legal framework and the proposed amendments are assessed by means of comparison with what has taken place in other jurisdictions
