ANSWER

1992, the first year of the new millennium, the world's population reached 5.5 billion.

These types receive attention along lines like the money, securities, stocks, and investment portion. While he could not be expected to understand and appreciate these portions, the layman will, I am sure, be interested in them, much more than in the more technical parts.

Consequently most of the upper wing has the same color, the gray of the upper edge. The only part that has the gray of the lower edge.

Two "Coy" groups were matched with the two "Coy" groups in the upper order of the rock, while the remaining groups, which make up the remaining portion of the top of the plateau, were not matched with the plateau base.

The last segment presents several areas of the theory which have been developed in this paper, and which are of great importance in the development of the theory.

Observations, however, indicate that the relationship between the two variables is not as simple as the above equation suggests.
