China's Evolving Approach to Peacekeeping Marc Lanteigne,Miwa Hirono,2013-09-13 China has become an enthusiastic supporter of and contributor to UN peacekeeping Is China s participation in peacekeeping likely to strengthen the current international peacekeeping regime by China s adopting of the international norms of peacekeeping Or on the contrary is it likely to alter the peacekeeping norms in a way that aligns with its own worldview And as China s international confidence grows will it begin to consider peacekeeping a smaller and lesser part of its international security activity and thus not care so much about it This book aims to address these questions by examining how the PRC has developed its peacekeeping policy and practices in relation to its international status It does so by bringing in both historical and conceptual analyses and specific case oriented discussions of China s peacekeeping over the past twenty years The book identifies the various challenges that China has faced at political conceptual and operational levels and the ways in which the country has dealt with those challenges and considers the implication of such challenges with regards to the future of international peacekeeping This book was originally published as a special issue of International Peacekeeping

The End of China's Non-Intervention Policy in Africa Obert Hodzi,2018-10-22 This book gives a compelling analysis and explanation of shifts in China s non intervention policy in Africa Systematically connecting the neoclassical realist theoretical logic with an empirical analysis of China s intervention in African civil wars the volume highlights a methodical interlink between theoretical and empirical analysis that takes into consideration the changing status of rising powers in the global system and its effect on their intervention behaviour Based on field research and expert interviews it provides a rigorous analysis of China s emergent intervention behaviour in some key African conflicts in Libya South Sudan and Mali and broadens the study of external interventions in civil wars to include the intervention behaviour of non Western rising powers Obert Hodzi is Visiting Researcher at the African Studies Center Boston University USA and Postdoctoral Researcher at the University of Helsinki Finland China's Emerging Security Diplomacy in Africa Isaac Owusu Frimpong,2025-04-26 This book presents a comprehensive analysis of China s evolving security engagement in Africa a dimension often overshadowed by earlier studies focusing on economic and political aspects As China s global ambitions expand its involvement in African security across bilateral regional and multilateral levels has intensified challenging its longstanding principle of non interference The book explores why China is shifting from a policy of non interference to one of non indifference and details the actions supporting this change Employing neoclassical realist theory it examines systemic factors domestic influences and the role of President Xi Jinping in shaping China s security strategy By adopting a three dimensional approach to Sino Africa relations and categorizing the reasons for China s policy shift into strategic culture superpower ambitions operational motives and reputational concerns the book offers fresh insights into China s security diplomacy It contributes to the broader discourse on China s changing stance and its implications for international relations highlighting the need for attention in both academic and policy circles Africa-China Cooperation Philani Mthembu,Faith Mabera,2020-10-01 This book offers a range of perspectives on the Africa China partnership in the context of the Forum on China and Africa Cooperation FOCAC Incorporating historical political social and cultural dimensions it offers innovative views on the Africa China relationship that combine theory and practice and critically examines the prospects of a Pan African policy towards China complementary to China s comprehensive African policy The chapters address a number of key questions including What steps are being taken to achieve a more coordinated approach and policy towards China on the African continent Does Africa even need a collective strategy in the first place How would a coherent policy framework affect Africa s relations with Europe and other external partners How do the pillars of the partnership align with the African Union s Agenda 2063 and the United Nation s 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

Asia-Pacific Nations in International Peace Support and Stability Operations C. Aoi,Y. Heng,2014-03-13 This book aims to provide for a path breaking cross regional comparison of the capabilities and readiness of Asia Pacific countries to contribute to peace support missions with an eye to identifying emerging trends and policy implications Learning by Doing Roy Kamphausen,David Lai,Travis Tanner,2012 To better understand the PLA s ability to employ its developing capabilities in a variety of potential scenarios this volume examines how the PLA learns by doing specifically through its exercises and noncombat operations at home and overseas and through key logistical and theoretical developments Key findings are 1 recent PLA exercises and operations point to an increasing interest in developing expeditionary naval capabilities and a presence in distant seas suggesting that a move beyond the current near seas focus is both possible and an extension of existing efforts 2 PLA ground force exercises rather than aiming to intimidate others by demonstrating the ability to project power beyond China's borders focus on moving military power within China both to defend China's borders and perhaps as a prelude to military restructuring in which smaller but more mobile formations could replace larger and more static ones 3 through its participation in international military exercises as well as peacekeeping operations and humanitarian aid and disaster relief missions the PLA is gaining greater capabilities to deploy outside of China's borders for a variety of missions and 4 PLA operations are increasingly supported by a modern civilian integrated military logistics network though a lack of overseas bases continues to limit the effectiveness of this network as it pertains to overseas power projection capabilities

Chinas Changing Approach to International Intervention Oliver Bräuner, 2010-02-24 Thesis M A from the year 2009 in the subject Orientalism Sinology Chinese China grade 2 0 University of Heidelberg Institut f r Sinologie language English abstract This work tries to answer these questions by analyzing China's changing policy on the principle of national sovereignty and international military intervention especially since the end of the Cold War era The result is of course a much more complex picture than the one painted by the Western media Beijing's interpretation of national sovereignty is by no means static despite all its conservative rhetoric In addition China has increasingly acquiesced to some forms of international military intervention while continuing to oppose it in certain cases Although there are some visible red lines there seems to be no ideologically driven Chinese strategy on international intervention Beijing rather seems to follow a pragmatic approach of muddling through mosuo testing a number of different approaches in order to find the best possible way to promote its interests This thesis is structured as follows Chapter 2 provides an analysis of the general development of Chinese foreign policy since the end of the Cold War era This chapter focuses especially on the issues and motivations that have dominated Chinese foreign policy in the past twenty years It starts with a brief analysis of the Chinese foreign policy decision making process and of the Chinese foreign policy think tank landscape Chapter 3 looks into China's changing position on the principle of national sovereignty The chapter also discusses the historical development of the principle of national sovereignty and the factors constraining and conduced change in the Chinese position towards it Chapter 4 examines Beijing's changing approach to international intervention To illustrate this approach two concepts of international military intervention will be examined UN Peacekeeping Operations and a new concept the Responsibility to Protect The analysis of China's position on these concepts will employ a mix of discourse analysis comprising official statements and unofficial foreign policy elite views and policy analysis Thus following a Chinese saying listen to their words and watch their actions ting qi yan guan qi xing Finally a summarization of the findings and the corresponding conclusions can be found in chapter 5 The chapter ends with some policy recommendations for Western foreign policy decision makers China's "New" Diplomacy Pauline Kerr, Stuart Harris, Q. Yaqing, 2008-11-15 The authors of this book investigate one of the mostly hotly debated and significant questions of our times what role will China be playing in world politics over the next twenty years by asking another controversial question is China's new diplomacy a tactical or fundamental change Bringing together Chinese and Western scholars of diplomacy the book highlights the view that diplomacy is both an instrument of foreign policy and a learning and socialising process that fosters both positive and negative change and is an important indicator of China's future role It further argues that there is little to suggest that China's new diplomacy has a tactical revisionist agenda however it is too early to be sure that China's changed diplomacy is a fundamental one Moreover much will depend on the diplomacy of other major powers towards China and on China's domestic politics Peacebuilding in Asia Amaia Sánchez-Cacicedo,2010 Introduction is there an Asian approach to peacebuilding Actors differing motivations for involvement in peacebuilding A Westphalian versus a post Westphalian approach implications for peacebuilding Peacebuilding within the region The importance of bilateral relations The uniquely Asian ASEAN way Peacebuilding beyond the region China an independent foreign policy of peace or rather contingent multilateralism India a global peacekeeper but still a regional hegemon Japan Asia's exception to the rule in peacebuilding Conclusion China in and Out of the Changing World Order Samuel S. Kim,1991 China Review International ,2003 International Journal ,1995 Neue Bücher und Aufsätze in der Bibliothek Germany. Bundestag. Bibliothek,2011 China aktuell ,2008 The Forum on China-Africa Cooperation Garth Shelton,2008 Research on China's African engagement has increased significantly in recent years and covers a wide range of topics and issues while much of this research has been critical of China's activities on the continent few observers have attempted to analyse or understand China's policy towards Africa and the specific diplomatic framework FOCAC constructed by China to advance dialogue problem solving and mutual benefit FOCAC forms the central pillar in advancing China Africa relations and is the arena for constructive diplomatic interaction It provides the foundation for building a long term win win China Africa relationship A fuller understanding of FOCAC as a mechanism for advancing such a China Africa win win relationship and for building positive South South relations is required to advance the China Africa research agenda This monograph seeks to provide this understanding of FOCAC P 4 of cover China Returns to Africa Chris Alden,Daniel Large,Ricardo Soares de Oliveira,2008 The geopolitical landscape of China Africa relations has been overlooked during the G8's purported Year of Africa which generated debate in the build up to the China Africa Summit in Beijing in 2006 This book offers surveys of China's return to Africa examining what this relationship holds for diplomacy trade and development
