Chinas Military Power Assessing Current And Future Capabilities:

China's Military Power Roger Cliff,2015-09-15 Once termed the world's largest military museum the Chinese military has made enormous progress over the past twenty years With skyrocketing military budgets and new technology China's tanks aircraft destroyers and missile capabilities are becoming comparable to those of the United States If these trends continue how powerful will the Chinese military be in the future Will its capabilities soon rival or surpass those of the United States The most comprehensive study of its kind this book provides a detailed assessment of China's military capabilities in 2000 and 2010 with projections for 2020 It is the first of its kind in outlining a rigorous theoretically and empirically grounded framework for assessing military capability based on not just weaponry but also doctrine training equipment and organizational structure This framework provides not only the most accurate assessment of China's military to date but an important new tool in the study of military history

Strategic Adjustment and the Rise of China Robert S. Ross,Øystein Tunsjø,2017-06-20 Strategic Adjustment and the Rise of China demonstrates how structural and domestic variables influence how East Asian states adjust their strategy in light of the rise of China including how China manages its own emerging role as a regional great power The contributors note that the shifting regional balance of power has fueled escalating tensions in East Asia and suggest that adjustment challenges are exacerbated by the politics of policymaking International and domestic pressures on policymaking are reflected in maritime territorial disputes and in the broader range of regional security issues created by the rise of China

Adjusting to power shifts and managing a new regional order in the face of inevitable domestic pressure including nationalism is a challenging process Both the United States and China have had to adjust to China's expanded capabilities China has sought an expanded influence in maritime East Asia the United States has responded by consolidating its alliances and expanding its naval presence in East Asia The region's smaller countries have also adjusted to the rise of China They have sought greater cooperation with China even as they try to sustain cooperation with the United States As China continues to rise and challenge the regional security order the contributors consider whether the region is destined to experience increased conflict and confrontation Contributors Ian Bowers Norwegian Defence University College and Norwegian Institute for Defence Studies Daniel W Drezner Tufts University Brookings Institution and Washington Post Taylor M Fravel Massachusetts Institute of Technology Bjørn Elias Mikalsen Grønning Norwegian Defence University College and Norwegian Institute for Defence Studies Chung-in Moon Yonsei University and Chairman Presidential Committee on Northeast Asia Cooperation Initiative Republic of Korea James Reilly University of Sydney Robert S Ross Boston College and Harvard University Randall L Schweller The Ohio State University Øystein Tunsjø Norwegian Defence University College and the Norwegian Institute for Defence Studies Wang Dong Peking University

The Return of Bipolarity in World Politics Øystein Tunsjø, 2018-02-27 Since the collapse of the Soviet Union the international system has been unipolar centered on the United States But the rise of China foreshadows a change in the distribution of power Øystein Tunsjø shows that the international system is moving toward a U.S.-China standoff bringing us back to bipolarity a system in which no third power can challenge the top two The Return of Bipolarity in World Politics surveys the new era of superpowers to argue that the combined effects of the narrowing power gap between China and the United States and the widening power gap between China and any third ranking power portend a new bipolar system that will differ in crucial ways from that of the last century

Tunsj expands Kenneth N Waltz's structural realist theory to examine the new bipolarity within the context of geopolitics which he calls geostructural realism. He considers how a new bipolar system will affect balancing and stability in US-China relations, predicting that the new bipolarity will not be as prone to arms races as the previous era, as the risk of limited war between the two superpowers is likely to be higher in the coming bipolarity, especially since the two powers are primarily rivals at sea rather than on land and that the superpowers are likely to be preoccupied with rivalry and conflict in East Asia instead of globally. Tunsj presents a major challenge to how international relations understands superpowers in the twenty-first century.

The PLA Beyond Borders Joel Wuthnow, 2021

No longer confined to China's land territory or its near abroad, the People's Liberation Army (PLA) is conducting increasingly complex operations farther and farther from China's continental borders. Within Asia, the PLA now regularly operates into the far reaches of the South China Sea and deep into the Western Pacific, enforcing China's territorial claims and preparing to counter US intervention in a regional conflict. Beyond Asia, the PLA is present on the ground at sea or in military exercises with foreign partners across the Indian Ocean and into the Middle East, Africa, and Europe. Foreign militaries now regularly encounter the PLA, whether in tense incidents or friendly contacts on their home turf and in the global commons. Drawn from a 2019 conference jointly organized by NDU, the RAND Corporation, and Taiwan's Council on Advanced Policy Studies, The PLA Beyond Borders surveys the dimensions of Chinese operations within the Indo-Pacific region and globally. The international contributors look both at the underlying enablers of these activities, including expeditionary capabilities and logistics, command and control, and ISR systems, as well as new and evolving operational concepts and operational patterns. Employing different analytic lenses, they portray a reformed PLA accelerating the pace of its overseas operations and increasing its modernization not only in the traditional domains but also in space and cyber.
