Disruptive Innovation in Chinese and Indian Businesses Peter Ping Li, 2013-03-12 With the rapid development of China and India as new economic powers in global competition an obvious question is whether these emerging economies are great opportunities or threats Whilst answers are bound to differ depending on one s perspective it is increasingly clear that more local firms especially local entrepreneurs from these emerging economies will play a more critical role in global competition by becoming challengers to global incumbents Indeed the fact that the majority of their populations are at the bottom of the pyramid and thus cannot afford products designed for the developed markets has made these emerging economies fertile ground for developing and applying disruptive innovations A novel mix of key attributes distinctive from those of established technologies or business models disruptive innovations are typically inferior yet affordable and good enough products or services which originate in lower end market segments but later move up to compete with those provided by incumbent firms This book sheds new light on disruptive innovations both from and for the bottom of the pyramid in China and India from the point of view of local entrepreneurs and international firms seeking to operate their businesses there It covers both the theoretical and practical implications of disruptive innovation using conceptual frameworks alongside detailed case studies whilst also providing a comparison of conditions and strategic options in India and China Further unlike existing studies this book focuses on the neglected perspective of local challengers as the primary players and in doing so reveals the extent to which the future landscape of global competition may be shaped by disruptive innovation as well as its capacity to make the world flatter and more sustainable This unique book will be valuable to both scholars and practitioners interested in disruptive innovation and those working in the fields of Asian studies international business economics and globalization

Hemispheres Robert Dewar, 2022-11-28 Hemispheres a sequel to Mallaig Road published January 2022 charts the story of Alexander Maclean's adult life and spans a period of more than forty years from 1976 to 2021. Alexander, born in British colonial Africa and brought up in the South Africa of the 1960s, spends half a lifetime striving to flee his demons. Ever restless, he travels back and forth between South Africa, the United Kingdom, Europe, and the Far East as he battles to escape the grip of alcoholism. In the process, however, Alexander has some extraordinary adventures and several near-miraculous escapes from death. This contemporary morality tale is above all the story of Alexander's triumph over alcoholism and of his deliverance from his demons. In a land far from Africa, Alexander at last finds enduring peace, love, and contentment.

A Chinese from Singapore Samuel Wong, 2009-03-23. A young Chinese came to the U.S. for theological training. His goal was to become a pastor/teacher in Singapore. Upon graduation, he returned to Singapore with his Caucasian wife to fulfill his obligations and to do post-graduate study concurrently. Unwittingly, the young couple was entangled in church and secular politics, and they had to leave Singapore. They began a new life in America. At several critical junctures of the protagonist's career, when he was in a relatively comfortable environment, he moved out of the comfort zone to tackle a new challenge in response to a higher calling. The detours in his life journey—the prejudice and discrimination in the workplace, the consistent acts of fairness of people of good will, the secrets of his success, and the mellowing of his worldview and religious faith—are the substance of this unusual book of inspiration. For a deeper appreciation of one who has led a life full of challenges, a life characterized by many successes against high odds, and a life replete with recognitions and awards in secular and religious settings, I invite you to read on.
