Designing Urban Agriculture is about the intersection of ecology design and community. This full color guide begins with a foundation of ecological principles and the idea that the food shed is part of a city's urban systems network. It outlines a design process based on systems thinking and developed for a lifecycle or regenerative based approach. It also presents strategies, tools and guidelines that enable informed decisions on planning, designing, budgeting, constructing, maintaining, marketing and increasing the sustainability of this re-invented cityscape. Case studies demonstrate the environmental, economic and social value of these landscapes and reveal paths to a greener and healthier urban environment. This unique and indispensable guide details how to plan, design, fund, construct and leverage the sustainability aspects of the edible landscape typology. Covers over a dozen typologies including community gardens, urban farms, edible estates, green roofs and vertical walls, edible school yards, seed to table food landscapes within parks, plazas, streetscapes and green infrastructure systems and more. to the middle aged start up entrepreneur about how to assess risk and how to focus their courage to begin His personal story is eclectic He left home at the age of nineteen with 75 and a used car Much of his book includes anecdotes some funny some quite serious that help frame my message They are intertwined with his personal stories about racing cars windsurfing heli skiing and piloting high performance aircraft and he uses these kinds of experiences to punctuate a point In spite of facing a new normal the basic principles he describes in his book remain constant A changing world even the coronavirus has always been the clarion call for entrepreneurs and people of creative spirit to rise to the surface and lead the way
